Name Elliott in Big Hughes Plane Sale

By WILLIAM THEIS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (INS)—The Brewster committee was told today that purchase of 100 high-speed Howard Hughes photo planes was ordered in 1943 on recommendation of Elliott Roosevelt after the plane had been rejected by Army Air Forces experts. The committee received testimony that Gen. H. H. Arnold, then chief of the Air Foces, overrode the experts' advice after Roosevelt reported that the Hughes plane was the most suitable available. Maj. Gen. Oliver P. Echols, retired, former assistant chief of air staff, testified the day after he advised Arnold he believed the rejection should stand he was instructed to obtain 100 of the twin-engine planes approved by the son of the President.

Elliott Roosevelt then was an Air Forces colonel, a photo-reconnaissance specialist.

MEYER EXCUSED

Echols told the committee:

"Gen. Arnold told me he had heard all the pro's and con's and to go ahead and get 100 airplanes."

Echols testimony, bringing Elliott Roosevelt formally into the testimony for the first time, came as the committee excused John W. Meyer, Hughes' ocean-hopping publicity man to "get some sleep" before taking the witness stand.

Sen. Ferguson (R.) of Michigan, chairman of the subcommittee, made this comment on Echols' statement of "pro's and con's:"

"He had your con's. Did anyone give him any pro's?"

"Echols replied that he "carried out orders."

Ferguson said that Elliott Roosevelt would be in Washington Monday and might be called on that day.

Echols told the Senators that it was not unusual for officers from the war theatres, as in the the case of Col. Roosevelt, to be assigned to the Army AAF's operations, commitments and requirements section in the United States and to give advice on aircraft.

EXPERTS NOT CONSULTED

"This was more than advice," Ferguson observed. "Your exprts were not consulted."

"So far as I know they were not," Echols affirmed.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—Senator Ferguson (R.) of Michigan said today the U. S. marshal at Los Angeles reported to him by telephone that he had failed in a first attempt to serve Howard Hughes with a war investigating committee subpoena. The subpoena was dispatched by plane to Los Angeles last night after Hughes declined to come here "forthwith" to testify.

Echols had said the chief of the army air staff, at the direction of Gen. H. Arnold, had turned thumbs down on the F-11 photo-plane Aug. 21, 1943, after the first craft had proved unsuccesful.

Echols added normally that would have ended the matter, but that subsequently he was informed by Arnold that young Roosevelt, who was in charge of photo-reconnaissance in the European Theater of operations, was coming in the United States.

Echols testified:

"Gen. Arnold said he was going to have Col. Roosevelt survey all requirements and specifications for photo-reconnaissance planes and determine whot planes then in an experimental or production stage could be used to improve the performance of our existing photo-plane.

CHOSE HUGHES PLANE

"He told me to talk with Col. Roosevelt and give him full cooperation. I gave him a list of all planes he might be inter-

Elliott Faces Senate Plane Quiz Monday

Elliott Roosevelt, whose name has been mentioned in connection with the Howard Hughes investigation, disclosed today for the first time that he would appear as a witness Monday before the Senate war investigating committee.

The son of the President made the disclosure at Logan Airport, where he arrived by auto from Ogunquit, Me., with his actress wife, Faye Emerson.

Elliott said he had not been subpoenaed to appear before the committee.

"About a week and a half ago," he said, "Sen. Brewster asked me if I would be available to appear before the committee. I told him I would be delighted."

Asked if he had any idea what he would be questioned about by the committee, he replied in the negative.

"As a matter of fact," he said, "I prefer to make no comment on the entire affair until after I have testified."

He gave the same reply to questions about the gay parties he was reported to have attended as a guest of millionaire Hughes.

He said he understood pictures had been published showing him with John Meyer, publicity man for Hughes, but that he had not seen them.

Elliott and his wife had been vacationing at the Roosevelt summer home in Campobello, N. B. They drove yesterday to Ogunquit, Me., spent the night there, and then headed for Logan Airport this morning.

Elliott was boarding a plane for New York and planned to spend the week-end at the Roosevelt home in Hyde Park before leaving for Washington to testify Monday.

After his plane left his wife planned to drive on to Dennis, where she will start rehearsals Tuesday for the leading role in "The Profile," which opens at the Dennis Playhouse Aug. 12.

Hughes Woe 'Should Not Happen to Dog'

By HOWARD HUGHES

Copyright, 1947, by Los Angeles Examiner

This one is entitled "The Little Dog That Stepped on the Big Dog's Toes." Yes, my little dog (TWA, Trans World Airline) dared to step on the big dog's toes (Juan Trippe's high, exalted, grand and mighty Pan American Airways).

At the time it happened, Jack Frye, then president of my company, TWA, said to me:

"Howard, you are going to learn that Pan American Airways has the biggest, most complex and strongest political machine that has ever hit Washington.

"Juan Trippe (president of Pan American) feels you have moved in on his territory, which he considers to be the entire world outside of the U. S., and he is going ta make your life miserable. You have no idea the ends these people will go to."

Well, I guess Jack Frye was right, because since the day my company first started flying the Atlantic, what has happened to me shouldn't happen to a dog—not even a little dog.

MONOPOLY FAILS

Pan American Airways' first attack was a strong lobbying maneuver to shove a bill through Congress known as the "Chosen Instrument Bill."

Under this bill, all the foreign routes would automatically be taken away from TWA (my company) and all the other overseas airlines, and given to a big new company which would be formed. This new company would be an outright monopoly. It would be the only U. S. company allowed to fly across the ocean.

And, naturally, under the terms of the proposed law, this new company would be controlled lock, stock and barrel by Pan American Airways, and Juan Trippe (president of Pan American) would be the president of the new company.

However, Juan Trippe and Sen. Brewster were unable to shove this bill through Congress and make it a law. So they introduced a new bill called the "Community Airline Bill." This of course is the same baby in a different set of diapers, and if it should become a law it would accomplish the same thing.

Now, Sen. Brewster is the author and official sponsor of this bill.

SO THEY TRIED AGAIN

It is known as the Brewster Community Airline Bill. Brewster signed his name to it and has openly and most actively campaigned for it, which is surprising in view of the known relationship between Brewster and Pan American Airways.

However, with TWA leading the other independent overseas airlines in a fight against this bill, and with the general American policy against monopoly and for free enterprise, Juan Trippe and Brewster didn't get very far, and their efforts to push this bill through Congress met with failure.

It was at about this point that I first got wind of the beautiful scheme to use the threat of this senatorial investigation of my airplane projects as the screw by which to pressure me into merging TWA with Pan American Airways.

Juan Trippe and Brewster made it very clear to me that they only needed TWA in order to put their Community Airline Bill through Congress and make it a law.

They could shove it down the throats of the other overseas airlines if they could just get TWA on their team.

Then, Juan Trippe, who already has the biggest airline in the world, would wind up with a complete monopoly, automatically and quite legally putting all the smaller airlines out of business and taking over their routes and airplanes.

BUT TWA OBJECTED

Possibly this story should be called "The Story of the Five Little Stratoliners."

You see, at the start of the war, my company, TWA, the little dog, owned five small four-engined air-

Torn-Up Note Held Clue to Lost Heiress

By DONALD J. MacPHAIL
Copyright, 1947, Boston Evening American

HOLDERNESS, N. H., Aug. 1—Discovery of an enigmatic, torn-up note, later identified as in the handwriting of missing Anne Straw, addressed to "Lee, Dearest," and mentioning a boat and plans for an early meeting, were found today in the Straw family summer home here. The note, regarded as a valuable clue to the 11-day-old mystery disappearance of the attractive 20-year-old heiress to $7,000,000, was taken to Concord State Police headquarters for examination by fingerprint and handwriting experts.

The note was found in the Straw summer lodge, on the shores of Little Squam lake where Anne vanished without a trace the night of July 21, following the departure of the girl's foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Ellis Straw for their winter home in Manchester.

There was not date on the note. It was headed "Ashland." The Straw home is on the Holderness-Ashland town line. It read:

"Lee, Dearest:

"Last night was wonderful—must time always intervene and separate us?

"Have found out about the boat—will explain all details when I see you. Please make it soon. Can't . . ."

After the word "can't" there was an inky blot. The word "soon" was underlined. The writer broke off the letter either because of the blot or because she was dissatisfied with the contents, police theorized.

FIND SECOND NOTE

A second note found in the Straw home later was found to have been written by a member of Anne's family.

The Boston American showed a photostatic copy of the note addressed to Lee to a girl with whom Anne carried on an extensive correspondence. This girl said:

"That note looks like her writing. Especially like when she wrote hurriedly."

Sgt. Stuart Currier of the State Police who took the note to Concord headquarters for examination said he planned to question Anne's parents about the "Lee" to whom the message was addressed.

Meanwhile, plans for an all-out search of the countryside around Little Squam lake were being mapped as police emphasized that the girl might be alive—or dead—in the woodlands.

Col. Ralph Caswell, superintendent of State Police, said he is convinced the girl is somewhere in the vicinity of her summer home. He said there is a chance she may be alive and "roughing it" in a remote area, but there was more likelihood she is "dead, and not by her own hand."

DRAGGING CONTINUES

He refused to elaborate on this opinion, given after he participated in a long conference with Sgt. Currier, in charge of the search, County Prosecutor Robert A. Jones and a representative of the office of Atty. Gen. Ernest A. D'Amour.

Caswell said there will be concentrated search Saturday, Sunday and Monday by state troopers from other parts of the state, sheriff's deputies, experienced woodsmen and "reputable volunteers."

Meanwhile, a light cabin plane took off again today on a schedule of three trips daily around Little Squam lake to watch for a body appearing on the surface. Dragging operations were continued at both ends of the lake, where it empties into Big Squam lake and into a river outlet.

Attack British With Mortars In Jerusalem

JERUSALEM, Aug. 1 (AP)—A British regimental headquarters here was attacked today with grenades and mortars and one attacker was killed, while in Tel Aviv several Jews were reported wounded by gunfire from a British armored car which created panic in a funeral procession of 5000 Jews.

Five grenade and mortar explosions heralded an attack on headquarters of the Hampshire regiment, only 200 yards from the Jewish agency.

Two suspected attackers were captured alive. No casualties among the Hampshires were announced.

Alarm sirens summoned troops to action stations, and the area was cordoned off as police began rounding men up for questioning. About 200 persons were held for screening.

BURSTS OF GUNFIRE

In Tel Aviv, private sources said three bursts of gunfire from an armored car manned by policemen wounded several persons in the funeral procession for five Jewish victims of reprisal shootings last night.

A score of Jews were wounded in last night's shootings which a reliable source attributed to Tommies bent on revenge for the hanging by Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground organization, of two British sergeants at Natanya.

As the funeral procession, led by the chief rabbi and the city councillors, approached the Great Synagogue, an armored car manned by British police moved toward it, its Bren guns manned and swinging in arcs. The informants said shots came from the car as it withdrew.

8 JEWS WOUNDED

The Tel Aviv incident touched off a series of sharp clashes. Eight young Jews were wounded by gunfire and 15 others were reported injured in clashes with the police and military. A private source said troops opened fire when a group of young Jews stormed Barclay's Bank and other groups overturned an army truck and stoned the general post office building.

The attack on the regiment headquarters here was made against the entrance to the perimeter of its defenses.

HOT SPOT—British headquarters in Jerusalem (1) was attacked by grenades today after killing of five Jews and injuring of many others last night in Tel Aviv (2). Shootings followed hanging of two British sergeants at Natanya (3).

Albany Baby Flies Here for Surgery

A five-week-old Albany baby, threatened with death because of an intestinal condition, arrived at Children's Hospital this afternoon after a mile-a-minute ambulance ride to the Albany airport, a 51-minute flight to Logan International Airpor and a police-escorted taxi raceto the hospital.

Gerald Herman, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Herman, was brought by his parents, the father getting aboard the TWA Starliner only after a scheduled passenger gave up his seat.

The pilot, Capt. Myron Smith of Derry, N. H., was given priority for landing and airline officials had a cab waiting.

The baby was to be operated on soon after arrival. He had been at Albany Hospital, 10 miles from the airport in that city, a trip made in 10 minutes.

Parley Averts Bus Strike in Winthrop

A threatened strike of Winthrop bus drivers, which would disrupt transportation for 10,000 commuters daily, was averted today by a conference of union leaders and officials of the Rapid Service Bus Lines with a State labor adjuster.

Francis J. Thompson, the adjuster, said the meeting had discussed clarification of the language of the union contract with the company regarding posting, picking and changing of work assignments.

The differences were settled amicably, he said.

Mercury to Tumble Into Forties Tonight

August came in like a line from a March weather proverb today, hitting Maine with a half-hour hail and wind "twister," and greeting Boston and all of New England with temperatures in the shivery 50's.

The Boston weather bureau, promising continued cool and sunny weather, issued a blanket warning to suburban sleepers that the mercury will sink into the 40's tonight.

Storms and a drop in temperatures were general throughout the nation. In Northern Michigan, the weather was freezing. Portland, Me., recorded an early morning low of 51, compared to yesterday's high of 89.

The potato crop in Aroostook County, Me., suffered severe damage from hail and wind. The tornado-like storm there lifted roofs from two houses and two barns, and littered streets of the Canadian border town of Fort Kent with trees.

But just as a reminder that this is August, despite the cool weather, the New Orleans weather bureau warned today that the first of the season's tropical storms is moving northeastward from a position about 90 miles east of Tampico, Mexico. The storm is expected to pass inland, probably into northern Mexico.

Bandits Nab $3200 From Roxbury Tavern

Mrs. Delia Coyne, wife of the proprietor of Coyne's Tavern, New Heath st. and Columbus ave., Roxbury, was held up and robbed of $3200 this afternoon by two bandits who escaped in a blue sedan.

The robbery occurred within 100 feet of the tavern. Mrs. Coyne had gone to the bank and withdrawn the money to cash patrons' checks. Her automobile stalled as she neared the tavern. The bandit car pulled alongside. One of the menjumped out, wrenched open the door of Mrs. Coyne's car and seized a black bag containing the money.

Mrs. Coyne succeeded in getting her car started and gave pursuit, trying to attract police attention. She lost sight of the holdup car after following it as far as Roxbury Crossing.

Fishermen's Union Fined; Ban Catch Limit, Price Fix

"The Atlantic Fishermen's Union, Atlantic Division, AFL, and its officers were found guilty of civil contempt fine to the State of Massachusetts in a 25-page decision Seafarers Maritime Union, and ordered to pay a $500 today by Judge Edward T. Broadhurst.

Judge Broadhurst's decision was made in the action brought against the union by Atty.-Gen. Barnes.

The judge found the union, its officers, delegates and port agents, in seeking to limit production and fix the price of fish, are a monopoly in violation of the common law and that "it is contrary to public policy, illegal and void."

He enjoined them to cease and desist from "conspiring, confederating or combining to limit the production of fresh fish for the purpose of having the effect of preventing the sale of fresh fish at its fair market value."

Commenting on the decision, Atty. Gen Barnes said:

"The decision by Judge Broadhurst in the suit of the Commonwealth against the Atlantic Fishermen's Union represents a great victory for free enterprise and the common people. There is no longer any doubt that the courts of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts can and will protect the people from the evils of monopoly, no matter how or by whom it is created."

"The defendants are not exonerated, because they are members of a labor union, from obedience of the statute and are not immunized against a suit by the Commonwealth for its violation by any act of Congress," the judge said.

He finds, contrary to the union contention, that the State of Massachusetts did have jurisdiction in the case and not the federal courts.

"This is an encounter between the union and the law of supply and demand," the decision read. "It is a skirmish in the universal contest between the seller and buyer, one of whom is trying to sell as dearly, and the other to buy, as cheaply, as he can.

"What the defendants have done is to use their control of virtually all the manpower engaged in the marketing of fresh fish in this Commonwealth (a control which is in itself lawful and harmless), and thereby, by arbitrary and unilateral action, to establish minimum prices in the Commonwealth for an essential article of food, and to create and maintain a monopoly whereby competition in the Commonwealth in the price of such commodity may be restrained or prevented; and to enter into an agreement or combination whereby the price of such commodity may be unduly enhanced within the Commonwealth.

"The purpose of the defendants to keep their compensation at least as high as it was during the war, and has been since is legitimate and appealing, but the means by which they seek to satisfy that desire are unlawful."

Judge Broadhurst took the case under advisement in Superior Court last June 30 after a lengthy hearing in which Barnes charged the union with operating a monopoly and with contempt in the alleged violation of a temporary injunction issued last Feb 21.

That injunction enjoined the union from fixing the price of fish and interfering with a free market.

The case was heard by Judge Broadhurst after the union failed in an effort to have the case heard in federal court rather than the state court.

Atty. Henry Wise, counsel for the union, had challenged the state's jurisdiction in the case after Barnes obtained the temporary injunction, contending the industry extended far beyond the state borders.

But on April 1 Federal Judge Arthur D. Healey found that there was cause for action under the state antimonopoly act and ordered the case remanded to Suffolk court.

Hint Truman Has F. D.-Stalin Secret Notes

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—Charles G. Ross, White House press secretary, today declined to comment on a published report that President Truman has secret Roosevelt-Stalin correspondence locked in his desk.

Ross, asked about the story at his news conference, commented:

"Is that so? That's interesting."

When asked if he could say anything about the purported letters, Ross replied:

"No."

As published by the Washington Times-Herald, the report said President Truman has "confided to intimates that publication of the correspondence would precipitate a flood of anti-Russian feeling and might possibly provoke war" because they reveal that "the Russians had no intention of co-operating with the Western powers in any way."

The dispatch added:

"Roosevelt addressed various pleas to the Soviet leader and received blunt replies, which were insulting, it was said."

Small Fry Burglar Alarm Irks Cops

Police, who naturally carried their heaviest artillery, converged from all quarters on the National Shawmut Bank branch in Center st., Wes Roxbury, today, in panting response to a burglar alarm.

They found business as usual, tellers and patrons sedately going about their transactions.

Downstairs, near vaults, the gun-toting coppers cornered two grinning small fry, boys of 10 and 11. They confessed they had wanted to see how the alarm would sound. They had turned it on while their mother was making a deposit upstairs. Mother retrieved them from the law.

3 Ex-GIs Set Mt. McKinley Climb Record

Henry Daub, 23-year-old Baldwinsville football star, now a GI student at the University of Alaska, was hailed with two ex-servicemen classmates today as having broken all records for speed in climbing to the 20,270-foot peak of Mt. McKinley, North America's highest.

Daub, a former mountain trooper, scaled the peak with a Californian and an Ohioan, making it to the top and back in 17 days. It was the first pure adventure attempt since 1932 and the victors comprised the smallest party ever to reach the top.

The achievement was made without "outside support from air or ground," the Associated Press reported.

Bradford Washburn, head of the New England Museum of Natural History, who recently returned from an Army-sponsored ascent of the towering mountain as the head of a scientific expedition which included Mrs. Washburn, disclosed, however, that his party had left caches of food which might have been of help to the GI trio.

Daub enlisted in the Army Dec. 8, 1942. He was trained as a mountain trooper in Colorado and was serving in Italy when the war ended. He is a graduate of Templeton High School, where he starred in football and other sports. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Daub.

His mother, Mrs. Georgia Daub, told the Boston American by telephone today he had written her just before the ascent, writing from Wonder Lake Camp in McKinley National Park.

"I'm excited, of course," she said. "The whole family is. We expect him home in August. Then, next year, he will enter the University of Washington to study forestry.

Bed-Ridden Boy Told He'll Play Ball Again

Smiling and cheerful despite a rare bone disease which has kept him in bed for more than two years, William E. Mullen, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mullen of Malden st., Medford, was elated today at assurance from his doctors that in another year his crippled legs will be back to normal.

Stricken June 17, 1945, with osteoporosis, a disease unusual in childhood which makes the bone tissues porous and fragile, Bill has been in hospital after hospital. His legs in casts and hanging from lifts, he is able to get out of bed now for only two hours each day.

But the news from the doctors is that he will be able to play baseball again. And that is something his heart is set upon. In the several recent months that he has been at home, he listens faithfully to the ball games, keeping his own score.

Ted Williams of the Red Sox and Torgy Torgeson of the Braves are his heroes, and he is looking forward to the day when he will meet them and see them play.

With his faithful pet dog, Butch, at his side, he thrills at reports of the daily doings of the Braves and the Red Sox when they win, of course. He follows college games, too, and says Holy Cross is his favorite and he hopes to go there some day.

Ruby Foo's Son Indicted Twice

The Suffolk County grand jury today returned two indictments against Earle M. Shong, 24, son of Ruby Foo, Boston Chinese restaurateur, in the July 4 shooting of his stepfather, William Wong, 42, at their Jamaicaway home.

One indictment charges Shong with assault with intent to murder his stepfather, and the other alleges assault and battery with a dangerous weapon, to wit, a pistol.

Shong is now at liberty in $10,000 bail.

HURT IN FALL FROM TREE

Paul O'Neil, 22, Columbia rd., Dorchester, employe of a Boston tree surgery firm, was seriously injured today when he fell 55 ft., to the sidewalk from a tree in Highland st., Cambridge. He was taken to Cambridge City Hospital where doctors said his condition was critical from multiple injuries.

Fall River Strike Perils Entire N.E. Textile Industry

New England's entire textile industry kept an anxious eye on Fall River today, where thousands of workers face enforced idleness within a week as a result of the midnight walkout of 1200 key workers from the city's 15 mills.

Extra details of police were on hand at all the city's mills today as the first shift of workers went on duty at 6 a. m. but the striking workers, members of three independent unions, failed to establish picket lines.

The striking workers are members of the loom fixers, slasher tenders and knot tiers unions, while some 13,000 other mill workers in the city are members of the CIO Textile Workers' Union.

MAY IMPORT WORKERS

The midnight walkout came after state arbitration officials had failed in an effort to bring about a last-minute settlement of the difficulties between independent union leaders and mill operators.

The CIO workers will be able to continue for a time, but eventually they will be forced into idleness as machines which are kept in repair by the skilled independent union workers break down.

Possibility that skilled workers might be imported from outside the city were seen in reports that replacements were being sought in Nashua, N. H., where the Nashua Mfg. Co. textile mills are to be closed.

A newspaper advertisement by the Fall River Textile Manufacturers' Ass'n stated that an attempt would be made to fill the jobs of the striking workers, but gave no further explanation.

Mill officials warned the strike may result in many of the mills being forced to leave Fall River "never to return."

PARLEY UNPRODUCTIVE

Brig. Gen. Charles H. Cole, chairman of the State Board of Arbitration and Conciliation, announced after a two-hour conference with union and company representatives that nothing had been accomplished.

Leaders of the independent unions have rejected the equivalent of an 8-cent hourly wage increase and were said to have demanded pay hikes ranging from 24 to 50 cents an hour.

In Rhode Island three more mills were reported to have signed new contracts providing wage boosts of 5 to 10 cents an hour for more than 11,0 workers.

Developments at Fall River also were being closely watched by textile workers at seven mills of the Bates Mfg. Co., in Lewiston, Augusta and Saco, Me., where 7000 employes are demanding higher wages and establishment of a union shop.

Fiend Steals Baby from Bed, Kills Him

CHICAGO, Aug. 1 (AP)—State's Atty. Tuohy said today he would go before the grand jury to seek a murder indictment against a twice-convicted sex offender who, Tuohy said, has admitted stealing a 3½-year-old boy from his bed and strangling him.

The body of the child, Charles Bradley, was found yesterday under a porch near his home.

Police said Joseph Bortnyak, 27, a factory worker who was released from jail 11 days ago after serving 11 months on a sex charge, stated:

"I had a terrific urge to squeeze something."

Police said Bortnyak, who had been picked up for questioning before discovery of the boy's body, had given police clews as to where it had been placed.

Bortnyak, police stated, said he had been drinking and took a walk as he was "trying to get rid of the urge to squeeze something. But the urge got greater and I went down the alley and in the back door of the house (Bradley's)."

Bortnyak then, according to his signed statement, went into the Bradley home and took the sleeping child from his bed. He said:

"As I walked, I held the baby in my arms. After a bit the baby woke up.

"I patted the baby a bit, and I said to him, 'You're a nice baby and I like you.' I kept on patting him and then I walked into a yard and under a porch. I held the baby on my lap.

"Then I was seized with a desire to choke him. I don't know how long I choked him. He didn't make any sound."

Chinese Nabbed In Ship Dope Haul

Confident of breaking down a huge dope smuggling ring, customs agents today questioned a 44-year-old Chinese from Singapore, a crew member of the British motorship Silverlarch on which sleuths discovered more than $100,000 worth of opium.

The suspect, who faces arraignment later in Federal Court, was taken from the ship in Charlestown but only after the 33-man Chinese crew had threatened to riot and were quieted by the threat that all of them would be taken ashore and locked up.

Agents would not reveal what they had learned from the suspect but it was indicated that they had discovered enough to pick up the trail of accomplices both here and in New York.

At right, the girl is comforted by a paternal aunt, Grace Mammano. The mother collapsed as the ship sailed with the girl aboard.

British Planes Aid Air Day Observance

Sleek fighters and powerful bombers droned over Greater Boston today, opening the two-day celebration of the 40th birthday of the Army Air Force. At Bedford Airport it was announced that a squadron of at least 12 Lincoln heavy bombers of the Royal Air Force would sweep over eastern Massachusetts to give the observance an international touch and symbolize the co-operation of the two air forces in the recent war.

Open house from noon to 9 p. m. was featured at Logan Airport by the Massachusetts Air National Guard, with war veteran pilots and crews on hand to demonstrate to the public the equipment now in use by the Guard's 102d Fighter Group.

On display were P-47 Thunderbolts, A-26 Invaders, C-47 Transports and L-5 Grasshoppers.

Birthday salute flights, led by Maj. William F. Dufault of Wakefield, commander of the 379th Air Reserve Training Squadron, were made during the day over major cities of Massachusetts and Rhode Island. Similar flights tomorrow will be led by Lt. Col. Lawrence J. Burlingame, deputy commander of the 310th Reserve Bombardment Group.

The 40th anniversary banquet will be held tonight at Hotel Statler with Maj. Gen. Robert M. Webster, First Air Force, as speaker.

Bedford Airport announced a squadron of at least 12 Lincoln bombers of the Royal Air Force would join in the observance to lend an international flavor and symbolize the wartime co-operation of the two forces.

The four-engined Lincolns recently flew here from England for a tour of American bases. They will be escorted on the ceremonial flight by some of the latest American fighter planes.

Other craft visible to watchers today and tomorrow will be a B-29 Superfortress, a B-17 Flying Fortress, A-26 light bombers, fighters of several types and L-4 observation craft.

Bedford Airport was thrown open to the public at 11 a. m. today, and the gates will be open at the same hour again tomorrow.

A four-hour demonstration is tempted."

Miami to Washington Jet Flight in 2 Hours

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—Four Army P-80 Shooting Stars, streaking through the skies in celebration of the Air Force's 40th anniversary, set unofficial speed records to Washington today from Miami, Chicago and New York.

Lt. J. R. Howard flew a jet fighter from Miami to Andrews Field in two hours, one minute and two seconds, averaging about 480 miles an hour for the 970-mile trip.

Capt. A. J. Meancon brought a P-80 into Andrews on a 220-mile course from Mitchel Field, New York, in 24 minutes, 15 seconds.

Maj. Donald E. Griffin came in from Chicago, about 600 miles by air, in one hour, 11 minutes, 40 seconds.

B-29's in Record Flight From Tokyo

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—Seven B-29 Superfortresses with 160 persons aboard flew over downtown Washington at noon today, and landed on nearby Andrews Field, ending a one-stop 7000-mile flight from Tokyo. The planes had spent 31 hours, 24 minutes in the air.

The big bombers rendezvoused at 10:32 a. m. over Martinsburg, W. Va. and 23 P-80 Shooting Star jet fighters escorted them on to Washington.

Air Force officials described the trip as the "longest and fastest mass flight of bombers over 30-

Taft-Hartley Law Pledged NLRB Backing

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—The new five-man National Labor Relations Board today pledged deep determination to make every provision of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act work as effectively as possible.

The Board issued that statement as its first act after two new members—Abe Murdock and J. Copeland Gray—and a general counsel took their oaths of office this morning.

The Board also appealed to labor and management to work together with full recognition of each other's rights and the needs and rights of the public.

Earlier the general counsel, Robert N. Denham said he felt "the sane, balanced judgment of the union leadership, for which I have a great deal of respect," will eventually realize that unions have more to gain than lose by continuing to channel complaints and requests through the Labor Board.

Sailor Who Slew 10 Hangs Self

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (INS)—The Navy announced today William Vincent Smith, 21-year-old sailor from Ashville, N. C., who last year slew 10 shipmates aboard an LST in China, committed suicide by hanging himself at the Anacostia naval air station.

Smith, who was awaiting court martial for the mass slaying of his comrades, fashioned a noose out of part of a mattress cover ripped from the cot in his cell.

Naval officials reported Smith said he had shot men who had "taunted him."

HENRY FONDA AND BARBARA BEL GEDDES
In Dance Scene From "The Long Night"

Audience to Decide Man's Fate in Symphony Hall Drama

The life or death of a man will hang in the balance, and a vast audience will decide his fate, when a dramatic mock trial is presented at Symphony Hall on Wednesday evening, Aug. 13, following the first week's showing of "The Long Night," spectacular film which opens Aug. 6 at the RKO Memorial Theater and at more than 338 other theaters throughout New England and northern New York State.

Defendant at the trial will be the hero of the film, who at the climax of the picture faces a first degree murder charge. This role will be played by Guy Madison, replacing Henry Fonda, who plays the role on the screen.

Beautiful Jacqueline White will portray the heroine, played on the screen by Barbara Bel Geddes, and Ann Dvorak will be here in person to play the colorful part of the night club entertainer, as she created it in the film.

Tickets for the mock trial go on sale early next week at Symphony Hall, prices ranging from $1 to $3, and all proceeds will go to the Children's Hospital Fund. The trial will be broadcast from the stage of Symphony Hall between 8 and 9 p. m., over the Yankee Network, and motion pictures will be taken of both players and audience.

Boston's famed criminal lawyer, Atty. Herbert Callahan, will be defense counsel at the trial, pleading for the defendant with the brilliance which characterized his masterly defense of Charles Russell Goodale of Onset, for whom he won acquittal on a first degree murder charge.

Judge Thomas J. Courtney of Chicago, famed for bringing to justice the notorious Capone gang and the gunman John Dillinger, will be the prosecutor. A presiding judge will be announced later, and the vast theater and radio audience will be the jurors and return a verdict of life or death.

"The Long Night," depicting the tragedy of a youth driven to murder because of menace to the girl he loves, is produced by Robert and Raymond Hakim and directed by Anatol Litvak.

Skeleton Identified As Elderly Seaman

The skeleton of a man found near Dedham parkway in the Stony Brook reservation of Hyde Park was tentatively identified yesterday as that of Siegfried Bengtson, an elderly itinerant seaman, through a membership card in a Pacific seamen's union in an overcoat found with the skeleton.

Medical Examiner Timothy Leary said the skeleton had been in the underbrush about five months and that the cause of death had not yet been fully determined. He said that the bones showed no marks of violence.

U.S. Mediation Of Dutch War Stirs UN Row

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 1 (AP) —The United States called on the United Nations Security Council today to order an immediate cessation of hostilities in Indonesia to prepare the way for American mediation of the undeclared war.

Russia immediately charged that the United States offer to mediate in Indonesia was a means of circumventing the United Nations and demanded the Security Council itself take binding action.

Herschel V. Johnson, deputy U. S. delegate, made his demand after Dr. Eelco N. Van Kleffens, Netherlands ambassador to Washington had accepted the United States mediation offer.

The U. S. offer of good offices also goes to the de facto government of the Indonesian Republic whose forces are fighting the Dutch.

The Indonesian government is also expected to accept mediation conditionally.

Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko agreed with the United States that the Council should act immediately to order a cessation of hostilities, but he urged the Council to go slow on mediation.

Gromyko raised strong objections to mediation including his charge that the move would bypass the UN. He said it also would give the Dutch an advantage over the Indonesians because they could start the negotiations from their present military positions.

The banks will not charge the veterans for cashing the securities. The Treasury will pay the institution small fees, varying according to the volume of bonds handled.

British Face Cuts in Food Rations of 25 to 50 Pct.

LONDON, Aug. 1 (AP)—Immediately large-scale cuts in Britain's meagre food rations were forecast today as cabinet ministers studied plans to combat the nation's economic crisis.

A government source said Prime Minister Attlee would disclose details in Commons next Wednesday.

Meanwhile the Daily Express and Daily Telegraph, persistent critics of the Labor regime, said the cuts would be between 25 and 50 per cent in some foods already rationed more thinly than in wartime.

The newspapers foresaw deep cuts in meat, butter, grain and tinned foods, especially fruit and vegetables.

Meat is already rationed to about 24 cents worth per week—about enough for one meal. The butter ration is 2½ ounces per week. Canned food distribution is restricted by a stiff point rationing system.

A government source said Britain was pressing the United States to relax provisions of the American loan agreement restricting British imports — including food imports—from other nations.

Under the agreement Britain may not increase her expenditures in other nations, except those with war-damaged economies, if the increases are made at the expense of her buying program in the United States.

The source said the government wanted U. S. approval to step up her purchases, especially food purchases, in her dominions.

Recent reports said the United States was willing to relax the agreement so far as it concerned British trade with her colonies, as opposed to the dominions—Australia, New Zealand and South Africa and Canada—which are rich in food.

Only in Canada does Britain have to buy with her scarce dollars. In the other dominions she gets her imports for pounds sterling.

Mercy Plea for British Atom Secret Betrayer

LONDON, Aug. 1 (AP)—A delegation headed by Harold J. Laski, former chairman of the Labor party, asked clemency today for Dr. Alan Nunn May, serving a 10-year sentence for giving atom secrets to an undisclosed foreign power.

Laski and the others contended that the sentence, imposed in May, 1946, under the official secrets act, was too severe and that May's services as an atom physicist were needed by the country. Home Secretary J. Chuter Ede announced no action on the request.

'Turbo Bill' Quits GE After 40 Years

"Turbo Bill" left his Lynn job today, a job that took him to the forefront among the engineers of the world in the development of the aircraft engine turbo-supercharger.

He is Waverly A. Reeves, winner of the General Electric Coffin award, highest honor the company can give to an employe "for unusual achievement." He went into retirement after 40 years with General Electric.

He pioneered in the development of the turbo-supercharger with the late Dr. Sanford A. Moss. He was one of those who paved the way for jet propulsion activity.

The turbo-supercharger—which enables aircraft engines to "breathe" in rarefied air—was used on most of Uncle Sam's bombers and fighters in World War II.

Experiments on Rats Evolve New Vaccine Against Polio

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1 (INS)—A step toward the goal of a human poliomyelitis vaccine was announced today by four Stanford University research chemists.

A report disclosed they have successfully immunized a group of rats against one type of the crippling disease.

Though no mention was made of any prospect of human experiments along the same lines, immunization of the rats was considered a major gain in the quest for a polio vaccine.

Through months of experiments, the Stanford scientists developed proof that cotton rats, cousins to the common variety, could be immunized against the Lansing strain of cerebral infantile paralysis.

In the conclusive test, 24 rats were vaccinated after being subjected to the virus by injection. Twenty-three failed to show any signs of disease. The 24th rat developed paralysis but recovered.

Observers pointed out that while previous experimental vaccines have been developed, the Stanford type is first of the inactive variety.

The Stanford vaccine was inactivated with formaldehyde, thus avoiding danger of injecting a living virus into animals or humans.

Eaton Urges U. S. Force Red Showdown

Special to the Boston American

NEW YORK, Aug. 1—Russia is rendering the United Nations impotent through her use of the veto power and at the same time is striving for world conquest wherever she chooses, warns Rep. Charles A. Eaton (R.) of New Jersey.

In a signed article in the August issue of American Magazine the chairman of the House foreign affairs committee calls for the U. S. to have an immediate showdown and tell Russia she must cease her imperialistic aims or face drastic action on the part of either this country or the UN.

"Russia has shown her imperialistic intentions in her objections to the control of atomic energy as proposed by the U. S.," says Rep. Eaton. She has refused to co-operate with the British and American zones in Korea and Germany or to help to bring about rehabilitation of those countries.

Rep. Eaton points to the fact that long before Pearl Harbor the U. S. knew that Japan and Germany were boring within and preparing to fight us. Virtually nothing was done about it but talk. Today the Russians have replaced Japan and Germany in the plan for world conquest, "and, as usual, we are putting our heads in the sand."

Russia today has a larger military force than any nation has ever had during peacetime, and she is still asking other nations to disarm, asserts Rep. Eaton.

Russia's delegates in the UN councils argue indefinitely, as if striving for peaceful settlement, says the chairman of the House foreign affairs committee, but they refuse to settle except on Russia's terms. Rep. Eaton warned:

"They speak in English but they do not speak our language," claims Rep. Eaton. "Such words as 'honor,' 'gratitude,' 'co-operation,' 'decency,' 'democracy' and 'freedom' apparently have no meaning to them. They have no morals and no religion.

"If we don't stop her now, there may come a time when we may have to keep her out by force of arms. It may be a hard job then, because she may have us outclassed in numbers and weapons. But we still have the atomic bomb, and I am sure that Russia has not, at least not yet."

Lynn Masher Eludes Cops' Trap

A telephone masher, who had been annoying Mrs. Mary Hatch of Eutaw ave., Lynn, with anonymous calls, successfully battled two husky police officers today to escape a trap set for him in her home.

Mrs. Hatch complained after the man called her last night and told her he would be up to see her after midnight. Patrolmen James Coppinger and Michael Gilroy went to the house and hid in closets.

Just after midnight the man arrived and the officers leaped out. But he put up such a violent battle he escaped and now is the object of a city-wide search. Police say they know his identity.

Wife No. 1 Is Baby-Sitter For Much-Married Spouse

CHICAGO, Aug. 1 (AP)—An abandoned wife, who found an apartment for her husband and his new wife and acted as a baby sitter for his family, refused to press bigamy charges—but the husband was sentenced to a year in the House of Correction, anyway.

The charge was changed to contributing to the dependency of a minor after Mrs. Suzanna Marome, 40, refused to press her bigamy charge against Beloitt Marome, 26, a candy cook, saying:

"I loved him when I married him and I guess I still love him."

The first Mrs. Marome said they were married in 1941, but her husband left her in 1945, saying he was getting a Florida divorce.

Later he returned to Chicago with Martha Thompson Marome, 28, of Chicago, following their marriage in Whiteville, N. C., July 1, 1945, and asked wife No. 1 to get them an apartment, she related.

"So I found them an apartment in the building where I lived," said Mrs. Marome No. 1. "Not only that, but I've been acting as their baby sitter part of the time."

Marome was arrested July 17 when police said they found two children abandoned in his flat. The children were Martha Jane, daughter of the second Mrs. Marome by a previous marriage, and Beloitt, Jr., 1, son of Marome and wife No. 2.

The second Mrs. Marome, an expectant mother, told Judge Joseph Hermes of felony court she did not know Marome had been married before, "although he told me some woman in Chicago had been chasing him." She was given a year probation on a charge of contributing to the dependency of a minor.

Held in Attack After Swim Party

Complaint by a 19-year-old Winthrop divorcee that she had been attacked after a moonlight swimming party in Saugus brought Edward J. Cahill, 23, of Somerset st., Winthrop, to Lynn district court today where he was held in $2500 for hearing Aug. 8.

Cahill was arrested at his home early today after the divorcee, Mrs. Beverly B. Wallace, of Lowell rd., Winthrop, appeared at Saugus police headquarters with her parents, told her story and signed a complaint against the youth.

She said she, Cahill and another man, whose name was withheld by officers, drove in Cahill's truck to Perini's pit in Saugus. She had no bathing suit but went swimming in her underclothing, she said. When she and Cahill emerged from the water, she charged, he attacked her.

State Dep't Air Wave Culture Dispensers Threaten Strike

By HOWARD RUSHMORE

Special to the Boston Evening American

NEW YORK, Aug. 1—More than 500 state dept. employes, who spend the taxpayers' money broadcasting the speeches of Henry Wallace to the hottentots, today were threatening virtual mutiny at their emporium of culture on West 57th st.

The reason—they aren't being paid for it.

Many an employe, who has just finished beaming a description of a Missouri six-legged cattawampus to Moscow, is concerned about how to meet the rent and grocery bills.

Others, in the true spirit of proletarian solidarity, are putting the bite on their fellow-workers for two-bits for lunch money.

This tangled financial situation confronts about 65 per cent of the staff at the "Office of International Information and Cultural Affairs," a State Dept. project left over from the New Deal.

Formerly the OWI, this cultural project two weeks ago was granted $12,400,000 by Congress over the skeptical remarks of certain legislators who doubted the value of foreign-language broadcasts to Russians who have no radios with which to listen.

About 300 script writers, foreign language experts, jive cultists, political pundits and proof readers haven't seen hide nor hair of these millions and are threatening a walk out.

Although all the unit chiefs are solidly on the payroll, the majority of other sub-executives and employes haven't seen a paycheck for from one to three months.

More mysterious is the reason for this non-payment of salary to the working class which is supposed to utilize the "voice of America" broadcasts to glorify the State Dept.'s version of Capitalism on the march.

The majority of the employes are on a per day basis and sign vouchers in which the State Dept. declares it will pay forthwith.

However, these vouchers have piled up and no folding money has been forthcoming to the hungry proletarians.

In one foreign language department, script writers have flatly refused to turn out their daily stint and the programs Ivan hears in Moscow are canned jive and bottled Beethoven.

JUST A TIFF

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 1 (AP)—A telephone call followed by a fire alarm sent three police cars, four engine companies and a ladder truck to an Eighth st. house.

Cause of it all, said Det. James Wilson, was an argument over a mailbox between a landlord and tenant in which the tenant bit the landlord's ear.

Taft on Five-Week Canada Vacation

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 1 (AP)—Senator Taft, bearing the endorsement of Ohio Republicans for his party's presidential nomination, headed for a five weeks' Canadian vacation today after delivering a blistering attack on President Truman's foreign and domestic policies.

Sounding the keynote of western speaking tour beginning in California next month, Taft declared at a big home-coming rally last night Mr. Truman is following a "befuddled foreign policy," is "still dominated by the principles of the CIO," and has failed to co-operate with the Republican-controlled Congress.

P. O. Clerks Must Examine Overseas Containers

Postal clerks throughout the country have been warned to examine packages for overseas, especially those containing improperly packed liquids.

Postmaster Patrick Connelly announced that liquids such as honey or syrup must be shipped in containers that have soldered tops.

Hughes Asks U. S. Probe

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1 (INS)—Howard Hughes declared today he would ask the Department of Justice to investigate Sen. Brewster's relationship with Pan-American Airways.

Hughes accused Sen. Brewster of lying in a story that an airplane hostess "didn't dare" to be alone with him in an airplane.

The hostess, Miss Harriet Applewick, was quoted as saying the senator's assertion was "ridiculous" and that plans for such a flight with Hughes had not even been made.

Hughes asserted:

"It is a sad situation when a United States Senator has to drag a lot of innocent girls into a congressional hearing in order to achieve personal publicity."

Hughes

planes called "stratoliners." The big dog, Juan Trippe, coveted them.

So, the big dog went to the War Dept. and said:

"Look, boys, there's a war going on, and every four-engined airplane ought to be flying men and equipment across the Atlantic. So why don't you take those stratoliners away from TWA, under the War Emergency Act, give them to me and let me use them to haul soldiers and supplies to the distant battle fronts?" (Patriotic music at this point.)

The next thing I knew, the War Dept. came to me (the little dog) and said:

"Deliver unto Caesar! Lay those stratoliners on the line!" (Juan Trippe's line.)

I moaned and groaned and said: "Listen, gentlemen—"

(The big dog can call the War Dept. "boys," but I have to be more respectful) so I said:

"Listen, gentlemen, why not let my little dog (TWA) fly the Atlantic and haul those soldiers and stuff?"

Nothing like that had ever been heard before!

GOT ITS CHANCE

(You noticed Brewster brought the Bible into this controversy the other day. Well, that's not surprising, because he and Juan Trippe have claimed a pretty direct and privileged hookup with Heaven for a long time including the sacred, divine, and exclusive franchise to fly the Atlantic and Pacific oceans all alone and without any other airlines out there to disturb their reverie.)

So when I suggested that the little dog might be able to paddle his way across the Atlantic and carry those soldiers and stuff just as well as Juan Trippe's high and mighty Pan American Airways, you would have thought I had knocked over a statue in the Congressional Library.

"Any one else fly the Atlantic! Ridiculous! Preposterous! Etc."

However, much to my surprise, the War Dept. finally said: "O. K. We'll give you a chance to show you can do."

Well, the little dog (TWA) flew the Atlantic all through the war with those five stratoliners plus a lot of additional airplanes which were added to the fleet as soon as it became apparent that somebody beside Juan Trippe could find Ireland and Paris without getting lost.

One of the stratoliners made 29 crossings in 31 days and, all told, the little dog got across the Atlantic and back thousands of times, so it sounds like a happy ending.

But, if you think so, you don't know Juan Trippe.

Mr. Trippe doesn't have a handle-bar mustache but he can certainly crack the whip especially around Washington when he puts that high-powered political machine of his to work.

POWER POLITICIANS

Right now, if I have ulcers, there are two men who can stand up and take all the bows for that achievement—Mr. Trippe and Mr. Brewster.

You might call them the Mr. Inside and Mr. Outside of Washington squeeze-play power politics. But those names aren't quite right because they are both on the inside all the time.

In any event, I must admit they make an efficient team and they certainly know their way around Washington.

I have an idea that when this poor country lad (meaning me) shows up back there to testify before Sen. Brewster's committee, it will be like a soft juicy young spring lamb being fed to the hungry wolves.

PLANE READY?

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (INS)—The Senate War Investigating committee learned today that the Civil Aeronautics Administration last February certified Howard Hughes' huge plywood flying boat as "complete," although the plane has not yet had taxi tests.

Sen. Ferguson (R.) of Michigan, placed in evidence documents showing that Hughes' eight-engine flying boat was granted an experimental license and recognized by the CAA as a finished ship six months ago.

ested in and he made a tour of factories looking them over.

"Col. Roosevelt reported that of all the planes he saw it was his conviction that Hughes' plane, if modified, would be the most suitable type."

Echols testimony showed that Col. Roosevelt's decision that the Hughes plane was the only one that would satisfy him, brought quickk reaction from Gen. Arnold.

Echols stated he knew of "no unusual outside interest" in the craft at that time. Ferguson recalled, however, that Jesse Jones, former Reconstruction Finance Corporation chairman, had written an enthusiastic memo to President Roosevelt about the plane on June 27, 1942 Mr Roosevelt transmitted the memo to Arnold with the notation:

"What is there in this?—FDR."

TURNED DOWN OFFER

Echols testified that Hughes turned down a tentative army offer of $500,000 for the unfinished F-11 on the grounds that he had put three million dollars into the plane and thought he stood a better chance to get his money back if he could show the army a complete, tested craft.

The Jesse Jones memorandum to Mr. Roosevelt declared that Hughes had put six million dollars of his own money into the project.

Echols told the committee that his price of $500,000 and Hughes' price of three million dollars were so far apart that late in July, 1942, he instructed a subordinate handling the Hughes negotiations:

"Just make it a hold project. Keep your eye on it and let it go at that."

N. Y. Legion Favors Red Party Ban

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Aug. 1—The New York state convention of the American Legion approved a resolution today urging that the Communist party be outlawed.

It also urged that Communists be ineligible for federal office, and that public support be withdrawn from any educational institution which employs Communists.

Other resolutions unanimously approved by the convention urged that state and local governments follow the federal program of "loyalty tests" in hiring employes, and endorsed universal military training.

Gen. Truman C. Thorson advised the legionnaires to become familiar with arguments for universal military training and to make themselves "community educators" on world conditions

Eastern Air Lines Announces

NEW-TYPE CONSTELLATIONS

EASTERN AIR LINES will soon put into service the New-Type Constellation. In our judgment it is the world's most modern airliner. It was chosen only after two years of the most careful consideration.

Our entire technical staff made exhaustive studies of all large commercial planes in production. They looked at various planes under all stages of completion. The answer for the best in air transportation is, in our opinion, the New-Type Constellation.

This airliner was developed from the Constellation that for three years had demonstrated such great dependability in long-range military service all over the world. It embodies every advanced feature of aeronautical design. Many of these features are exclusive to the New-Type Constellation—for example, the extra speed and dependability of four mighty Wright engines developing a full 10,000 horsepower.

We of Eastern extend our heartiest congratulations to Lockheed and to Wright Aeronautical for their great achievement in producing this—the finest of all airliners.

World's Most Powerful Airliner!

Four new-type Wright Cyclone-18 engines tested and proven in long-range military service. 10,000 horsepower, greatest of any commercial airplane.

World's Most Dependable Airliner!

Greatest reserve of power—flies easily and can actually gain altitude even under full load, on any two of its four mighty engines.

World's Fastest Airliner!

Speeds well over 300 miles an hour—faster, smoother speed than any commercial airliner now in service.

The World's Most Modern Airliner!

New-Type Constellations go into service on Eastern Air Lines soon. Look forward to a new luxury, a new delight in air travel. Never before has there been a passenger plane like this one.

Besides being the most powerful, the most dependable and the fastest airliner in service, it will bring you a new standard in comfort, smoothness and convenience. Its semi-floating cabin is cushion-mounted on rubber to make your ride quiet, eliminate vibration and bring you smooth flight. You will find the seats deep-down comfortable—you will admire the beautifully appointed interiors—you will appreciate the air-conditioned, comfort-controlled cabins for restful, refreshing flight at any altitude.

Aboard the New-Type Constellation, service is superb. There's a crew of five: a seasoned captain, a skilled pilot, a flight engineer to supervise all mechanical operations and two courteous cabin attendants.

This is air travel at its best and most modern. And Eastern is first again—with the world's most modern airliner.

These New-Type Constellations expand the services of the already famous Great Silver Fleet of DC-3's and DC-4's

Man, Blind 3 Weeks, Weds Girl Who Wouldn't Be Spurned

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 1 (AP)—Harland H. Pease, 35, of Topsham and Miss Beatrice E. Hudson, 38, of Scarborough were married, as they had planned for six months.

The setting— a hospital room—wasn't in the plans, however, and it was the bridegroom who wore white—a hospital "Johnny."

He had a little trouble with the ring, for he was blind. And there was no ring for him—his ring finger was one of three torn off in a dynamite blast which took his sight three weeks ago.

Pease, a feldspar miner, had tried to talk his fiancee out of the wedding plans. He told her he couldn't see, that the doctors weren't sure he ever would be able to.

But she convinced him the future still could be bright. A Justice of the Peace performed the ceremony with a few friends, nurses and other Maine Eye and Ear Infirmary patients as witnesses.

If Pease gets his sight back he'll mine feldspar again.

And if he doesn't

"Of course I hope his eyes will get better," said his bride. But if he can't go to work, I will. You see, I still want him, just the same."

Lodge Off to Study Greece at Own Expense

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP)—Sen Henry Cabot Lodge (R.) of Massachusetts, sailing on the Liner Queen Elizabeth, said today he was traveling at his own expense to "see how things are getting along in Greece, particularly since our recent loan." He added:

"I am going to ask a lot of questions. I plan to talk to anyone and everyone, including leaders of all political factions. It is indispensable that members should know the outside world as well as the State Department and the press."

Second Message From Lord Tells Him Pay Boost No Sin

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 1 (AP)—Quincy Beltram, accused by union officials of telling his employes it was "a sin" to ask for wage increases and that such raises could be given only when he received "messages from the Lord," agreed today to permit unionization of his 17-man factory.

Beltram, appearing before the state mediation board on protest of the United Steelworkers (CIO), admitted he had dismissed 11 employes because of union activity but said it was merely the dictates of the Bible.

Beltram operates the International Edge Tool Co. and conducts Bible classes for his employes on company time. He said he had acted in accordance with the Biblical quotation:

"Cast out the scorner and the strife shall cease."

Pickets at the factory carried placards countering the Bible-quoting manufacturer with a union-selected Biblical quotation:

"Masters give unto your workers that which is just and equal, Col. iv. 1."

Beltram told the board he had informed the 11 men further study of the Bible convinced him he had acted without sufficient reflection.

If the union convinced him it was "orderly" and would not try to dictate how his business should be run, he said he might be more receptive. The mediation board gathered 15 of his 17 employes last night for an immediate election, and nine voted in favor and six in opposition.

Baltram said this morning he would give unionization a chance "until I hear further from the Lord."

Gen. MacArthur's Son, 9, Takes Flying Lesson

TOKYO, Aug. 1 (AP)—Nine-year-old Arthur MacArthur and several of his young companions had a flying lesson today at the Far East Air Force exhibit at Memorial Hall.

Gen. MacArthur's son took his turn with other youngsters in the cockpit of a model plane while PFC Warren E. Shehorn of Mt. Vernon, Ill., demonstrated the controls. Shehorn didn't learn until later that one of his pupils was the boss' son.

Jail Revere Man For Contempt

Adjudged in contempt of court for failure to make $30 weekly payments for support of his divorced wife and four children, William Sherman of Revere today began serving a 30-day sentence in Charles st. jail.

Sherman told Probate Judge Frederick J. Dillon he was not working and had no money, adding, "I wouldn't pay it, any way."

His wife, Mrs. Celia Ellen Sherman, Highland ave., Revere, told the court her former husband was more than $300 in arrears on the payments ordered by the court.

The Shermans have two boys and two girls, ranging in age from 7 to 18 years.

"I don't care if I have to spend the rest of my life in jail, I won't pay her," Sherman told newsmen.

Newton Youth Held As Prowler

Rescued from a group of angry Newtonville vigilantes, Gerald J. Boudreau, 18, of Watertown st., Newton, pleaded guilty in Newton court today to disturbing the peace and peeping.

At request of police, Judge Donald E. Mayberry continued the case until Monday and held the youth in $400 bail.

A group of residents, organized to trap a prowler who had been disturbing Newtonville for more than a year, spotted Boudreau in a yard and gave chase, pursuing the youth through backyards, over fences and through streets until he was felled by a flying tackle.

Marched to the street, the posse took over with shouts of "Give it to him!" and "Scratch his eyes out!" but at this moment a police cruiser, attracted by the noise, pulled up to the crowd.

U. S. Bids for Free Trade in Europe

BERLIN, Aug. 1 (AP)—In a bold attempt to open European markets to free trade, the American military government will spend millions of dollars in Europe buying goods from Germany's neighbors, authoritative sources declared today.

The dollars will come from the sale of Germany's exports under the American-British bi-zonal import-export plan. Goods will be bought wherever they can be found, whether in western European countries or those dominated by Russia.

This program has been initiated already in the signing and negotiating of trade agreements with Czechoslovakia, Switzerland and Italy. It is intended to refute the frequent Soviet charges that America is trying to drain Europe of dollars.

Lucinda, darling—we're serving ice cream now!"

Home Garden Forum

Head of the Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School

Q—Our broccoli plants are large, but have not developed heads. What is the trouble?

A—This is usually caused by buying poor plants or a poor strain of seed. Broccoli should head in about 60 days. Buy plants from a reliable source, and fertilize well for quick growth.

Q—Is it too late to plant beans now?

A—Bush beans planted now will mature. If the soil is dry, wet the furrows before planting seed to hasten germination.

Q—Ant nests give trouble in our garden. Can they be sprayed?

A—Try spraying soil over nests with D. D. T. It has given good results in some cases.

Q—Can lime and fertilizer be applied and worked in at the same time to save labor?

A—If limestone is used, there will be little harm. Hydrated lime may cause some loss of nitrogen.

Q—What is causing the tassels of our corn to break off?

A—Suspect corn borers. This is where the first borers show. Break off the infested tips and burn to destroy the borers and prevent them from working into the ear.

Q—When should an Oriental poppy be transplanted?

A—It can only be moved when the plant is dormant, usually in August. Soak the soil around the plant and keep a good ball of earth around the roots when moving to the new location.

Q—Our arborvitae has webs all over it. What causes this?

A—Look closely and you will probably find the tree covered with red spider. The best control is to syringe the foliage with a pressure spray of water. Then dust lightly with sulphur.

IT IS YOUR MONEY

SENATOR HARRY F. BYRD of Virginia has offered some facts about the prodigious money-lending enterprises of the Federal Government, and some suggestions concerning them, that should give the American people better understanding of the financial affairs of their country.

Since 1934, says the Senator, the Government of the United States has doled out in loans just slightly less than ONE HUNDRED AND TEN BILLION DOLLARS to various foreign and domestic borrowers.

More than ONE HUNDRED AND TEN AGENCIES of the Federal Government have constituted the flood-gates through which this tremendous sum of money has poured, the Senator further reports.

Moreover, most of the money has never been paid back and much of it never will be repaid.

Wouldn't it be the sensible thing to do, suggests Senator Byrd—before lending any MORE money, particularly to foreign governments which have little capacity for repayment and even less intention to repay—for Congress to scrutinize the entire lending set-up of the Federal Government?

Wouldn't it indeed be a very wonderful thing, as he urgently proposes, for Congress to conduct this scrutiny with a view toward CURTAILING future loans with better regard for the depleted and dwindling resources of the United States, and toward getting SOMETHING BACK on outstanding loans wherever possible?

THE "HODGE-PODGE" of Federal lending programs, as Senator Byrd says, has made Uncle Sam the champion money-lender of all time.

But Uncle Sam, we should all remember, isn't really the rich and benevolent lender he pretends to be.

In his role as an international money-lender, Uncle Sam is NOT USING HIS OWN MONEY and actually HASN'T ANY MONEY OF HIS OWN.

Uncle Sam, as a lender, is HIMSELF A BORROWER.

EVERY DOLLAR HE LOANS OR SPENDS IS EXACTED FROM THE AMERICAN PEOPLE AS A TAX AGAINST THEIR CURRENT EARNINGS, OR BORROWED AGAINST THEIR CREDIT AND THUS MADE A DEBT AGAINST THEIR FUTURE EARNINGS.

The American Government does not itself ever EARN a dollar or HAVE a dollar of its own, but is a custodian of the money of the American people—and the manner in which it discharges the duties of that custodianship determines the degree of prosperity and financial security which the American people enjoy.

It would surely be a fine thing, as Sen. Byrd suggests, for the American Government to make an accounting of its vital custodianship in the matter of lending policy—as a preliminary, if nothing more, to determination of future policy in that matter.

HARDLY HELPFUL

ACCORDING to Rep. Edward O. McCowen of Ohio, sponsor of the so-called McCowen Federal Aid to Education Bill, the measure would give Massachusetts $2,496,000 for school purposes.

But at the same time, the arrangement would provide $13,330,000 for Alabama; $8,215,000 for Arkansas; $10,664,000 for Georgia; $12,095,000 for Kentucky; $12,735,000 for Mississippi, and $18,765,000 for North Carolina.

Because of Massachusetts' much greater contributions to the Federal Government through the income tax, we would find ourselves once more in the unhappy situation of getting back only a small part of the money we contributed, while States with poverty reputations would monopolize the educational funds.

That added burden on our economy would not be likely to raise school standards in Massachusetts or better the lot of our teachers.

A SUBSCRIBER named Rita says she was a schoolmate of mine at Public School No. 2 in beautiful southern Brooklyn and that at the time she was "smitten" with me but I did not respond, as I was "too wrapped up in horses, baseball, pool, the Orpheum and dice games."

What a reputation for a grammar school kid to have. Shameful! I don't recall any schoolmate named Rita. All I know is I was something less than a Valentino when at P.S. No. 2. The girls there didn't crowd me any.

But I did have a pal named Charlie Lee who was quite a hearthrob at that grammar school. There were always about 10 girls waiting for Charlie to carry their books home. Anyway, the subscriber aforementioned certainly knows our old neighborhood. She even remembers the cop on the corner who was nicknamed "Corkleg Hughie" because he ran so slowly when chasing the kids.

ASKING—Queries from citizens. Q—How is your racing system coming along? Do you figure it will take care of you in your old age? A—I am quite optimistic about the situation you mention. The system is clicking very smoothly. It works equally well for horses, dogs and Jai Alai. A point greatly in its favor is that it is very easy on the nerves. Q—Do you admit Houdini was the greatest magician of the 19th century? A—I will say that my old friend, Harry Houdini, was the greatest "escape artist" of all time but he was not a magician. I believe the greatest magician of the period you speak of was Hermann the Great. Q—Do you know of a song about a girl named Nina? A—Never heard of one. Considering Nina rhymes so well with Carolina it is strange that Tin Pan Alley overlooked it.

BARTENDERS — The New York City bartenders are not, as has been alleged, the highest paid in the country. On the contrary, they are among the lowest salaried. New York bartenders are paid $55 a week for a six-day week and at times the working days are nine or 10 hours long. Chicago bartenders are paid $75 a week. In San Francisco, they are paid $90 a week for a five-day week of eight hours a day.

LONGEVITY In what town in the United States does the average resident live longest? Some years ago George Bernard Shaw visited the Hertfordshire hamlet of Ayot St. Lawrence in England and noted with much interest the ages on tombstones of local citizens. From this observation G. B. S. figured that in Ayot St. Lawrence a man of 80 was considered just a young fellow and that the average villager passed on between 95 and 105. So he decided to settle down there. Which he did, and as you no doubt noted, recently celebrated his 91st birthday there.

THESE DAYS

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE RIGHT OF CONGRESS to inform itself by investigation cannot be questioned, for legislation would be impossible unless the legislative body possessed the means of informing itself directly on the subjects before it. This function of the Congress is as important as the actual passage of laws. Without it, the Congress would be completely dependent upon the executive for data and guidance. It would, indeed, become a rubber-stamp Congress—a mere institution of ratification.

Hugo Black

Various committees of Congress are now engaged in such investigations. It is a curiosity of the Liberal mind that whereas so-called Liberals favored similar congressional activities when conducted by Hugo Black, Robert La Follette, Jr., and others who served their purposes, they now express chagrin and almost horror that the process continues but under different management. They are particularly annoyed that the name, Roosevelt, appears in unfavorable headlines so often.

SOME INVESTIGATIONS raise old issues, as, for instance, the conduct of the war. This war was profligately conducted. Although on the diplomatic side, there is ample evidence that we had been moving toward war since 1937, and although it was obvious after Sept. 1, 1939, that we might become involved, Pearl Harbor found this country unprepared and undefended. It was necessary to move rapidly after Dec. 7. It was necessary to place the entire nation on a war footing. That cost money. It involved waste.

Congress needs to review everything that has occurred in relationship to the war so that from that experience it may have guidance for the future. If in the course of such studies, corruption, graft, trickery are uncovered, it is incidental to the task of understanding how the people's money was spent and how their welfare is to be safeguarded. If, perchance, some humor creep into this very serious business, no one need complain. Americans cannot help laughing when a fat man slips on a banana peel.

CROOKS ALWAYS TAKE advantage of war situations. And congressional committees will discover some of them. Whether they will be prosecuted or adequately punished is not the function of Congress, but of the Attorney-General and the courts. It is, however, a legitimate congressional function to get at the truth. For instance, it would seem as necessary to investigate UNRRA, AMG and the military administration in Germany as the activities of Howard Hughes and Henry Kaiser. Sometimes such an investigation is courted by the investigated; it establishes a favorable record and safeguards the individual's reputation from slander and calumny. Sometimes such investigations produce precisely the changes in policy which the man on the spot has long advocated. Not all investigations produce unfavorable data.

It is essential that the functioning of the State Department since 1933 be investigated. It is doubtful whether that can be done until a Republican President makes available documents which are now withheld. It is not merely a matter of policy, but the conduct of policy

WHO HAS BEEN Secretary of State since the fiasco of the London Economic Conference of 1933? The names are Hull, Stettinius, Byrnes and Marshall; the actuality is that the President has used the Department of State as a secret arm of his private office. The American people, in spite of press and radio, are a poorly informed people. They have not known since 1933 what has been done to their country in relationship to other countries; they have known little about how it was done and who did it.

The Marshall plan is a case in point. It is constantly being referred to as the Marshall plan. But what is the Marshall plan? Can you describe it? Can your Senator with any precision? Can your Congressman? Can the editor of the newspaper you read? Can I or any other columnist?

The answer is, no! The Marshall plan is secret diplomacy. It is some kind of a deal to give American money to European countries. How much? How? When? On what conditions? That is what a congressional investigating committee ought to find out for us.

Practically every proposition, from the decisions at the London Economic Conference, through Lend-Lease, Teheran, Yalta, Potsdam and other conferences, has been handled in the blackest secrecy. It is time to know.

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 1—Talk about zooming to the top—Burt Lancaster, an unknown two movies back, has been given his own independent production company at U-I, at least for one fling.

Burt Lancaster

Not since Clark Gable has any actor hit as hard as this Lancaster, who is better than the so-called breeze trying to sneak through my window. Most actors wait years to get important enough to put their feet on a desk and boss the works. But not this baby.

The movie he'll make is "Kiss the Blood Off My Hand," the terrible title on a really good book by Gerald Butler. It's a thriller with a London background.

Associated with Producer Lancaster are Harold Hecht, his agent, and Richard Vernon, who will assist.

GEORGE RAFT went down yesterday to get his passport for Europe. He sails in October to make "Outpost in the French Legion" for Sam Bischoff. He'll film it in French Morocco.

George was all ready to leave for Europe to discuss the deal at the time of the Bugsy Siegel murder, but when his name was brought up as a friend of the late underworld chieftain, he cancelled his sailing. He has a picture to make at RKO titled "Race Street," between now and October. George requested:

"Will you please say that I'm not going to Paris to see Virginia Hill, or for any other reason than to make the picture."

HERE'S WHERE I came in. Director Irving Rapper is again on suspension and today he said he was very hurt at his boss, Jack Warner. Jack didn't say how he felt about Irving.

This is what happened. Jack, about to go to Europe very soon, asked Rapper and Producer-Writer Randy McDougal to get "Christopher Blake" started immediately. Rapper said it wasn't possible because the two important stars he wanted weren't available. Jack wanted him to use Warner players, among them Alexis Smith, but this Rapper didn't want to do.

Soooo, today he is home, off salary, and very unhappy because he feels he did a swell job with "Voice of the Turtle."

GIRLS, you'd better listen to Clark Gable Sunday when he's on my show. He's going to give the definition for glamor. He ought to know—he's played opposite more beautiful women than any other film actor.

Here's just a few of the gals to whom he's made screen love—Claudette Colbert, Deborah Kerr, Lana Turner, Greer Garson, Vivien Leigh, Joen Crawford, Marion Davies. So he really knows what constitutes glamor. Of course, he'll have other things to say too.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Corinne Calvay, Paramount's French discovery, and such a pretty, sweet girl, is expecting her boy friend, Jean Francois Laley, over here very soon.

She says the expensive ring on her engagement finger was put there four months ago by Laley and it's possible they will marry when he arrives. Miss Calvay is one of the prettiest of the foreign importations.

I was talking to Dore Schary, RKO head, and he tells me their woman producer over there, Harriet Parsons, has been given a new contract with a nice raise. "That's because," said Dore, "her picture, 'Memory of Love,' is so good."

Harriet Parsons

Congratulations, Miss Parsons — and say, by the way, do you remember mama?

JOHN GARFIELD was really serious when he said he wanted to do a stage play. He has signed with Irene Selznick for the male lead in "A Street Car Called Desire."

Irene said today that John is so right for the part and she is happy that he has finally decided to do it. He'll start rehearsals Oct. 1, and then the play will go out for about four weeks before it opens in New York.

Irene, who has been spending the summer here, goes back to New York Aug. 31 and every one has read the Tennessee Williams play says it should be terrific. Here's hoping it's a smash hit.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD Collected at Random: Bob Hope is still sick and under the care of two doctors. The infection has spread to his eyes.

Jack Warner leaves for Europe next week to join Ann.

Greater love hath no woman! Mrs. John Wayne flew to Monument Valley, Ariz., where the temperature is 107, so she could be with John, who is working in "War Party." Well, it's 95 here.

Ginny Simms will live in the East for six months because of her radio show, which starts there in September. Her husband goes with her—but natch.

Here's a new combination—Ava Gardner and Keenan Wynn at a table for two at Ciro's.

Gloria Haley, daughter of Flo and Jack, obtained her divorce from Lewis Porchia.

Wait until Joe Frisco hears what Charley Foy did at the races. He really cleaned up. He had a "tippie" on a hot horse called Phippi, which paid $66.

Columnist Ed Sullivan's pretty daughter, Betty, and Scotty Beckett are the cutest pair in town.

Ann Southern met her first husband, Roger Pryor, in San Francisco, and believe it or not, they had a dinner date.

Jo Stafford is one of the girls being considered for "Annie Get Your Gun." That gal can sing, too.

Atwater Kent, who does so much for all charities, made Walter Winchell happy by sending a check for $5000 to the Damon Runyon Memorial Hospital.

Jean Sablon, the singer, is being tested at M-G-M.

George Jessel has been chosen as MC at the annual turf writers' dinner next Monday night at Del Mar Turf Club, and he'll be good.

Maureen O'Hara celebrates her birthday Aug. 17 and her husband, Will Price, is giving a big soiree.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

George Holland

Boston After Dark

SOLUTION OF THE ANNE STRAW vanishment will come when the case has cooled off and dropped from the headlines, members of the missing girl's family believe . . . Singer Phil Regan is being urged to run for Congress from a New York city district. Mayor William O'Dwyer and Phil are newfound chums, and the Mayor is prominent among those who believe that Phil could be elected . . . The friendship of O'Dwyer and Regan appeals to Broadway as a natural . . . Both achieved success the hard way and from similar beginnings . . . Sons of poor parents. O'Dwyer and Regan earned their first important wages as policemen in Brooklyn.

NOTE TO MRS. BEN BERNIE: Mrs. Marion Burr, of Falmouth, thinks she has an ideal August-September house for you. She can be reached care of the Cape Playhouse, Dennis, Mass.

ONE BEACON ST hotel has doubled rates for permanent guests, and exclusive apartment houses on the same famous (and much-traveled) street are nearly unanimous in offering those "voluntary" leases to their hapless and helpless tenants . . . The lease, as every rent-paying American knows, offers a tenant the security of a home through 1948 . . . All the tenant needs to do to win this tremendous boon is to sign a new lease calling, in most cases, for an added 15 per cent rent on the lease now in effect, and for the same boost throughout 1948.

THE REAL ESTATE lobby qualified as the most powerful minority in America when it achieved that measure of "relief" for the poor landlords . . . With lamb chops selling at $1.20 a pound, with milk up a cent a quart today, with electricity, telephone and tax rates higher, the enemies of democracy (not to forget the Democrats) certainly are finding plenty of ammunition . . . If the people should decide to vote against every member of Congress who signed the 15-per cent universal "voluntary lease" bill they would be showing some political sense, we feel . . . And why didn't the veto-ing Mr. Truman take his pen in hand when that one came along?

If anyone can show this reporter a single case of a Boston apartment house owner having gone into bankruptcy through operating losses during the war emergency and under rent control, we shall swallow the type that went into these sentences at high noon in Zarah's Devonshire st. show-window . . . The most offensive and arrant nonsense in the 15-per-cent rent gouge is the Congressional clause which dared dub the joker-filled legislation a "voluntary" lease agreement.

SUPPOSING a tenant wasn't, or isn't feeling "voluntary" about accepting the new leases being delivered in time for August billings? . . . Does Mr. Landlord slap him on the back, grin sheepishly, and remark, "Oh, well, old chap, you don't mind me trying, do you? . . . And that I learn you are not feeling very 'voluntary' today, I'll just trot along upstairs . . . Perhaps Mr. Smith sees our problem differently, and is ready to volunteer me a 15 per cent increase in the terms we agreed upon last January." . . . Nuts.

DESI ARNAZ took time off from a successful tour with his popular band to renew acquaintance with his glamorous mate, Lucille Ball, star of "Dream Girl" . . . Their careers will not cross paths again until wintertime . . . Young Meg Burke of Brookline is doing another nice job of acting this week in support of Martha Scott in "Harriets of Wimpole Street" at the Beverly summer theater.

THE HARTMANS' revue "Heaven Help the Angels," will blossom on Broadway this fall as an intimate musical . . . Paul Hartman and his son, Ted Luce, wrote most of the material, but Grace, Paul's co-starring wife, deserves collaborating credit . . . Her fine sense of values and keenness as a critic of material has been invaluable.

THE GARSON KANINS—Garson and Ruth Gordon—will open their 1947 dramatic offering in New Haven, with Boston next on the itinerary . . . Donald Ogden Stuart is author of the play and the title has not been decided . . . Rehearsals start Aug. 18, and Boston will entertain the comedy some four weeks later.

Broadway

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, Aug. 1—Jean Sablon, the French thrush, and Margaret Whiting, the U. S. nightingale, are singing "Je t'aime" to each other . . . Two New York beauties who attended the fabulous Howard Hughes entertainment are quaking in their wedgies as they anticipate a summons from the Senate investigating committee. One of them has married since; the other was married at the time she did the partying . . . Orrin Lehman's mother, Exie, will accompany Lady Iris Mountbatten back to England if she is able to book passage on the same ship . . . Chicago contractor Gene Wiener, one of singer Lillian Roth's ex-husbands, is wooing theatrical agent Peggy Loeb . . . Coast characters report that since her marriage to Leo Durocher Laraine Day has become the hardest-to-get actress in Hollywood. One wears producer is reported to have given "To get her for a picture, I'd have to make more concessions than Abe Ellis, the hat check king."

Margaret Whiting

THE deep, dark secret behind "Slave Girl," the Technicolor opus at the Winter Garden—advertised as a hilarious burlesque on exotic melodramas and recipient of critical praise for its "sense of humor about the sultry-sex department"—is really too good to keep. The film never was intended to be a comedy; it was shot in all seriousness several seasons ago and stayed on the shelf until some genius got the bright notion of billing it strictly for laughs. The "talking camel" sequences were inserted as an antidote to the laughs everyone knew would come in the wrong places . . . The Judy Garland-Vincent Minelli rumors are flying again since he moved in with Ira Gershwin . . . Playwright Philip Dunning's daughter waltzed down the aisle with newscaster Arthur Van Horn over the week-end . . . Betty Hutton will be a mother in 1948 . . . Chicago interests are trying to buy La Martinique and discussing a deal for the Embassy . . . The Lou Suritzes (he's the disc exec., she's Bijou Farrington, a top model) have their intimates expecting a flash . . . Cissy Trendnome, one of the charmers in the Center Theater ice show, is the girl who doubled for Jennifer Jones in the skating scenes for "Portrait of Jenny."

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1—I was sitting around the office today wondering whether to pay the rent or just send the bill to Johnny Meyer, when a fellow called up, all excited.

"Do you know," he yammered, "that they're eating people over at the War Assets Administration?"

"Very appetizing," I said. "Save me some bureaucrat a la king, will you?"

"I am serious," insisted the fellow. "The place is overrun with cannibals!"

Well, there is something about this column that seems to bring out the idiot in people, so I decided to humor the fellow along.

"Of course there are cannibals," I said soothingly, "but they are very finicky. They will not eat Democrats any month without an R in it and they insist a haunch of senator is good without horseradish sauce Howard Hughes."

"Think you're funny, don't you?" demanded the caller, which was practically telepathy, because that is just what I did think. "Well, there are so many cannibals at WAA they have a cannibalization section."

I MANAGED to get the guy off the wire at last and had almost forgotten the episode when Miss Reid came in and asked if anybody had called.

"Nobody to speak of," I reported. "Just a fellow telling me about cannibals at the War Assets Administration."

Instead of lifting up her eyes to high heaven as is her wont in these matters, the daffy damsel looked thoughtful.

"I wouldn't kiss it off like that if I were you," she said.

"Remember the time we missed a good story because we wouldn't believe the State Department had made a mistake and stuck up Italian flags to welcome the President of Mexico? Why not call up WAA and ask if it has a cannibalization section?"

Expecting to be given a frigid rebuke, I phoned WAA. There was a lot of clicking and flashing and then a female voice cooed:

"Cannibalization section!"

Completely nonplussed, I managed to gurgle:

"Let me speak to the head cannibal, please, I want to know what's cooking."

A man came on and asked what he could do for me.

"You can reject me under the pure food laws, if you will be so kind," I said. "Eaten any interesting people this morning?"

The fellow laughed.

"We were wondering how long it would be before we got a call like this," he rumbled. "This is the cannibalization section all right, but so far we haven't devoured anybody."

The fellow then explained that the expression, "to cannibalize," was coined by the Air Corps about 1940. It meant to strip parts out of one plane and put them in another. He added:

"Most of the big WAA officials are Army men so they brought the term with them. They found a great deal of our work consisted of stripping plants of machinery and then trying to sell plants and machinery separately. So naturally they called this the cannibalization section. Anything more on your mind?"

"Yes," I said, "Why don't you create a frozen food section to handle your frozen assets?"

JUST BEFORE departing for home, Sen. John H. Overton, of Louisiana, told me the inside story of how his bill, designed to lift the luxury tax on women's fur coats costing less than $300, died a sudden death. He confided:

"I guess I waxed a little too oratorical. I made an impassioned speech in which I said the tax prevented poor women from being adequately clad against the biting colds of winter. In my fiercest forensics I shouted:

"'Can't the senators see these poor women stripped and shivering?'

"Out of the corner of my eye I could see our distinguished minority leader, Sen. Baikley, wandering up the aisle whispering. I could hear suppressed chuckles—and when it came to a vote my bill was defeated to the accompaniment of giggles.

"Later I learned Sen. Barkley had whispered:

"'All who would like to see them that way will vote against the bill!'"

Youths in Stolen Car Elude Police

Three youths in a stolen car gave police and firemen a busy time early today, turning in no fewer than 21 false fire alarms within two hours and eluding capture after a police chase of more than three miles.

The chase ended in Dedham sq., shortly before 3 o'clock, where the trio abandoned the car outside a gasoline station and fled on foot, after a patrolman became suspicious of the car's steaming radiator and approached to investigate.

The attendant at the gasoline station told police it was the second call the three youths had made during the night to replenish their gasoline supply.

Seek Writing Artist For Royal License

LONDON, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Archbishop of Canterbury was looking today for someone who can write decoratively enough to inscribe Princess Elizabeth's marriage license.

Royal marriage licenses are usually inscribed by hand with a quill pen in old English block lettering, but the man who penned them for years is now dead and experts in the art of penmanship are hard to find.

The Archbishop's office said it had not been decided whether the royal license would be on vellum or parchment. A spokesman said it might even be illuminated.

The wedding is planned for Nov. 20 in Westminster Abbey.

Perfect Lips Easy Now

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

A NEW AND DIFFERENT lip brush . . . that's not a brush at all . . . has just been introduced, designed to shape the lips effortlessly and with full blooming color. This new type of lipstick applicator . . . which its creator company appropriately has named Lip-shape . . . looks like a slender gold pencil and has a miraculous tip employing all the technique of a lip brush . . . yet devoid of all a brush's drawbacks.

Many women find a lip brush hard to control when pressure is applied . . . but with this fine Lip-Shape you may exert the same pressure you would with your pet lipstick all due to its mysterious tip. Of special compound material . . . it's endowed with the same flexibility as rubber . . . and in theory works like a brush without running into the hazard of bristle-spread.

Blessed with a solid base which controls the tip . . . it is a slightly concave affair . . . designed to follow the natural contour of the lips. No need to fuss about shaping the tip . . . because the creators of this new, different and utterly charming beauty aid have thoughtfully taken care of this little problem. Furthermore, the tip is stippled . . . thus picks up lipstick as easily as anything. All of which adds up to a beautiful, trim outline for your lips.

USABLE WITH ALL LIPSTICKS

Here is how you use the nifty and handy little gadget . . . which, incidentally, will last for years as it is completely disdainful of lipstick oils. Rub well, stippled face of applicator on lipstick, covering entire surface. Start at left corner of upper lip . . . applying pressure to applicator as you follow natural contour of mouth to the center. Repeat from right corner and fill in the rest of the upper lip surface. Follow left center and right to center to fill in lower lip. Use rim or outer edge of applicator, to even lips for trim symmetrical outline.

You'll get the knack of using it very quickly . . . and when you do . . . you'll be amazed at the stunning job it does for the mouth. It can be used for whatever lipstick color you choose for the mood and the moment.

It can be easily cleaned in case you are switching from one color to another . . . and its tight-fitting cap keeps your new lip applicator absolutely clean. Because of it . . . you can be assured your lips won't be smeared nor messy . . . but perfectly shaped to your own liking. And it works like a charm around the corners. We haven't seen anything like it . . . or nearly like it.

For the name of this brushless lip-brush, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, any day except week-end, or write to me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FOR SHAPED LIPS . . . as provocative as the model's . . . there is a brand new lip shaper . . . an applicator that looks like a slender gold pencil and has a wonderful tip to control the distribution of color around the mouth. An unique lip brush . . . that's not a brush at all . . . it works like a charm in making lip coloring do what it should . . . beautify the kissables.

Speed Vegetables, Fruits From Garden to Canner

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

WE ARE REAPING a fine reward for that aching back we had all spring due to planting, weeding and pampering the vegetable garden. Slender, tender carrots, young beets, green or wax beans, bright red tomatoes all "right and ripe" for the picking.

Somehow home grown vegetables that you have planted, worked over and harvested yourself always seem to have a flavor twice as good as any others. Fresh picked vegetables make delectable salads, and nothing but fresh ones should ever be considered for canning.

Work quickly and enlist the help of the family to speed the journey of produce from garden to canner. Foods wilt and toughen and lose their vitamins and fresh flavors when held too long. Count the canning time accurately, and lose no time in removing jars of fruits or tomatoes from the boiling water bath. With a pressure canner, used for canning non-acid vegetables, follow carefully the directions for opening it, then take the jars out promptly.

CARROTS

Sort and grade for uniformity. Wash and scrape. Boil for 5 minutes. Slice or pack whole into hot jars. Add 1 level teaspoon salt to each quart, fill with cooking water. Adjust lids and process for 40 minutes in a steam pressure cooker at 10 pounds or for 2 hours in hot water bath. Remove from canner and cool away from drafts.

BEANS

(Green or Wax)

Wash and remove strings, break into small pieces. Cover with boiling water and boil 5 minutes. Pack hot into clean, hot jars, add 1 level teaspoon salt to each quart, fill with boiling water in which beans were cooked. Adjust lids and process for 40 minutes in a steam pressure cooker at 10 pounds, or for 3 hours in a hot water bath. Remove from canner and cool away from drafts.

TOMATOES

Use fresh, firm, ripe tomatoes. Scald and remove the skins, cores and all hard green spots. Cut into halves or quarters and pack tight into clean, hot jars. Add 1 teaspoon salt to each quart, add no water. Adjust lids and process for 15 minutes in steam pressure cooker at 5 pounds or for 30 minutes in hot water bath. Remove from canner and cool away from drafts.

TOMATOES

(Whole)

Select firm, smooth, medium-sized tomatoes of uniform size. Scald until skins loosen, cold-dip, peel and remove stem end. Pack closely without crushing, into clean, hot jars, add 1 level teaspoon salt to each quart, fill with finely strained tomato juice; adjust lids and process for 30 minutes in a hot water bath, or for 10 minutes in a steam pressure cooker at 5 pounds. Remove from canner and cool away from drafts.

CANNING BERRIES

Berries contain more water in proportion than large fruits and vegetables. For this reason, in jar-cooked canning, berries, when heated, will rise to the top of the jar, while syrup, being heavier, remains at the bottom. This can be remedied somewhat by pre-cooking the berries.

To each pint of berries add one cup sugar. Place in kettle, stir gently and boil for 5 minutes. Pack boiling hot into jars, adjust lids and process 5 minutes in hot water bath.

CHERRIES (Jar Cooked)

Cherries may be canned whole or pitted. For sour cherries, make a syrup, using 2 parts sugar to 1 part water; for sweet cherries, use a syrup made with 1 part sugar to 1 part water.

Wash, stem and pack cold into hot jars; fill with hot syrup, adjust lids, and process in a hot water bath for 20 minutes.

WHAT MAKES the waistline look so nipped and small? A built-in waist reducer, of course . . . an Adele Simpson innovation which she calls "waistlet" and which she says will positively cut about three inches off the waistline measurement. The suit . . . cyclamen red . . . has a little jacket and a very full skirt . . . the fashion blueprint for the rounded look. The V-formation of buttons gives the jacket a tapered look.—R. M.

Rates Low Both as Wife and Mother

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: I am married and have five children. My husband is in a hospital taking treatments for injuries from an old accident, and it seems likely that he will always be very much of an invalid.

I have been going out with a man for the past eight months, and he says he loves me, but he doesn't care for the children. He says if I will give the children up, he will marry me. I am 25 years old and he is 37. He dates me every night, but he says he feels funny about my having these children. Do you think, if he wants me to give them up, that he really cares for me, or is he only pretending? M. M. B.

Dear M. M. B.:

I think any mother who would even consider giving up her children is a pretty low character. But I don't think much of any wife, either, who spends her time thinking about marrying another man while her husband is helpless in a hospital.

Just how do you think you could do it, anyhow? I don't know any law in your state that would give you a divorce simply because your husband has an incurable illness.

It is, obviously, a very unhappy thing for a woman to have a husband who is a hopeless invalid. But it's a pretty mean business to be planning to run out on him under such circumstances, and I don't think any man who married a woman capable of doing it, plus giving up her children, would ge getting any bargain.

At that, though, it sounds to me as though the man you describe would be getting just about what he deserved, if you did manage to brush off your husband and marry him.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES

BE QUIET LATE AT NIGHT!—Whether you are an apartment house dweller, or live in a one-family house and a member of your own family is sleeping in the room below you, walk softly late at night and don't slam doors, etc. (Consideration for others is the cornerstone of good manners.)

Dress Built on Line Alone

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

AN UNADORNED dress that relies on nothing but good line for its look of distinction is a good dress in any season, in any woman's wardrobe, for any occasion. Good line this year takes for granted a longer look, not only in the hemline but through the body. This interest in line extends to the shoulder (no longer hipped and humped, but gentle and rounded to the sleeve (flared, caped or draped), to the fall of fabric as it is draped understandingly to the natural lines of the body.

A dress that is built on line alone may be, and usually is, a complicated matter involving proportion, intricate draping and subtle, painstaking cut. Like the dress designed by Charles Amour and sketched today.

This dress, which is in happy harmony with the figure, is made of grape crepe, draped across the bosom, molded through the body and folded at the low hipline. The skirt is gathered for fullness. The long sleeves are cut deep at the armpits. A simple self-belt brings fine proportion to the long torso-deep skirt line.

Educator Quits In School Row

MARIETTA, O., Aug. 1 (AP)—Dr. William Allison Shimer today had resigned as president of 100-year-old Marietta College, bowing to the demand of the board of trustees that he quit as the result of his marital affairs.

Allan C. Hall, secretary of the board of trustees, announced Dr. Shimer's resignation had been received and was accepted.

Shortly thereafter, the former president, 53, and his wife the former Dorothy Blair who was first public relations director and the dean of women for the college, left for the latter's home at Maywood, N. J.

Dr. Shimer and Miss Blair were married June 21 and left for a honeymoon in Canada. The first Mrs. Shimer, the former Edith Richmond, divorced the educator in July, 1946, on the grounds of gross neglect.

Smart Set Dance for Hospital

By BETTY ALDEN

BY LAND, SEA AND AIR guests will flock to Sippican Club in Marion a week from tonight for the gala dinner dance to benefit Children's Hospital.

Most of the young crowd in Cataumet and Pocasset tell us they will sail over on yachts because it is much shorter to go across Buzzards Bay than around by the highway.

A novel way of going by land will be employed by Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Kern, Dr. and Mrs. Joshua Weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Horatio Brewster, Mr. and Mrs. John Herbert and a large group of their friends and neighbors in South Dartmouth. They are chartering a bus for the round trip together and taking along a musician so they can sing en route. Among those arriving by air will be Harry Marshard, who is donating his orchestra for dancing.

Patricia Spencer, former president of the Junior League, heads the dinner dance committee, assisted by Mrs. Donald Angier, Helen Angier, Mrs. Roger W. Converse, Jr., Mrs. Donald Hood, Mrs. Norman Harrower, Mrs. Harold G. Kern, Mrs. Motley Sawyer, Patricia Taller, Mrs. Richard V. Wakeman and Mrs. Charles Winkler, Jr.

PATRICIA SPENCER
Heads Cape Dance Committee

The patronesses are Anne Bement, chairman of Children's Hospital Week of sports that begins at Cataumet today, Mrs. John W. Miller, Mrs. Charles L. Winkler and Mrs. Kern.

Harold Russell, twice winner of the Academy Award for his role in "Best Years of Our Lives," will be guest of honor and will draw the lucky winners of such handsome prizes as a case of gin and rum, a 15-lb ham, a 14k gold pin, a set of sheets and cases and a season ticket to the Marion playhouse.

The prize committee includes Mrs. John Perrin, Joyce Blaffer, Betty and Alva Hood, Helen Kendall, Betsy Stone, Anne Braitmeyer, Jill Miller, Gretchen Winkler, Mrs. Henry K. Cushing, Mrs. Charles L. Peirson, Nancy Breed, and Messrs. Melville Merritt and Albert Angier.

THE PICTURESQUE estate of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Henderson on the shores of historic Lake Walden is the scene of the marriage this afternoon of their daughter, Victoria Lee, to Thomas Mott Osborne, 2d. Rev. Grant Noble, chaplain of Williams College, is assisted by Rev. Morris Robinson of St. Anne's Church, So. Lincoln, in officiating at the garden ceremony, which in case of a storm takes place in nearby St. Anne's.

Vickie is wearing her maternal grandmothers' gown of ivory bengaline with puff sleeves and a square neck outlined with rosettes of the material. The gown has a petticoat with a deep hem of heirloom rose point lace and the same lace trims the French illusion veil. She is carrying cream roses with a rose point frill.

THE BRIDE'S BROTHER and sister, Barclay and Mary Henderson, are ribbon bearers and another sister, Augusta, flower girl. The attendants, in white faille gowns and each with a different color bouquet, are Mrs. Irving H. Chase, sister of the groom; Polly Henderson, cousin of the bride; Rebecca Bradford, daughter of the Governor; Mrs. Simons Lucas Roof, a recent bride; Ellen Endicott Monks, who will be married next week in Cohasset; Jacqueline Laneres, Cynthia Moller, Carol Parsons and Anne Willing Morris.

Tracy W. McFarlan of Greenwich, Ct., is best man for Mr. Osborne, who is the son of Robert K. Osborne of Auburn, N. Y. After a wedding trip to Lake Louise the couple will live in Ithaca, N. Y., where the groom will attend Cornell Law School. The bride is a member of the Junior League and Vincent Club.

HARRIET EVANS SPRAGUE, debutante daughter of Mrs. M. Morton Sprague of Chestnut Hill, is vacationing at Rangley Sheraton Hotel, Rangeley, Me., and was ticket chairman for the golf match held recently to benefit the Rangeley Hospital Fund.

HER MISTAKE

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1 (AP)—What boots it if a wife polishes her husband's shoes if he puts them on and walks out on her?

That question was answered in superior court as Mrs. Therese Lytle received a divorce from Earl Lytle, Jr., 23.

She told the court she considered it her wifely duty to keep his shoes looking nice. Then 44 days after their marriage, she said he went out of her life—shoes and all.

Navy Abandons Primary Trainer Aircraft

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy has abandoned primary trainer aircraft for teaching student aviators in favor of starting out with heavier, faster and more complex planes.

"It is expected," the Navy said today in announcing the new policy, "that the change-over will give the Navy a better aviator in a shorter period of time, and at less cost."

Van Johnson Back in Hit Fold

In a complete turnabout from the bland, saccharine roles he essayed in his cinematic past, Van Johnson is presently to be seen on Loew's twin screens giving a purposeful performance as an intolerance-hating ex-soldier of post-Civil War days.

It should return him to the "boxoffice bests" bracketing from which he has slipped in the past year.

The ineptly titled "Romance of Rosy Ridge" is his current vehicle. It is a vividly dramatic swatch of America, based on the MacKinley Kantor story and skilfully scripted by Leslie Cole.

Roy Rowland's effective direction has discovered rich, suspenseful drama in this story of hard-working Missouri farm folk whose quietly happy though austere pattern of life is menaced by hooded riders of the night. Barns are being burned down and hate and distrust are being infiltrated in the community made up of families whose men fought on both sides in the recent Civil War.

Johnson, as a sort of wandering minstrel of an ex-soldier, is the force that reveals the night raiders for the scum they are, engages in a blood-and-guts battle with their leader and wins the feuding farmers over to the side of tolerance.

George Bassman has provided a ringing score of native music, Earl Robinson and Lewis Allan have written some new songs and Johnson burl-ives through this American folk-tune pattern in good voice.

There is a rousing, lusty quality about it all, notably in the haying sequence, during which all pitch in against Ole Debbil Rain to save the hay, and the fight scenes between Johnson and the night-raider.

A lovely newcomer, discovered by Norma Sherarer in the Minnesota ski country, is Van's heart interest. She is Janet Leigh, whose performance in this one signals an exciting film future.

Tom Mitchell's fiery rebel, who is allergic to blue britches, is a first-rate characterization. Selena Royle, as his wife and Janet's mother, turns in another of her fine portrayals. Still another acting gem is Elisabeth Risdon's waspish wife to Guy Kibbee's mellow, humanity-loving Missourian.

Perry Como--How Boston Audiences Love That Lad

By PEGGY DOYLE

Not even the notoriously vocal enthusiasm of Broadway's Paramount audiences ever equalled the niagara of noise unleashed at the RKO Boston yesterday by the opening-show customers.

Perry Como, a handsome, mild-mannered young man who happens to be one of the nation's most idolized singing stars, was the occasion for the unprecedented ovation. He came here direct from a record-breaking engagement at the Manhattan theater. On the basis of the first-day capacity business at all five shows, it is a certitude that the Boston engagement also will result in some record-shattering by week's end.

The morning show audience was almost solidly bobbysoxers and their male counterparts, the latter almost as unanimously pro-Marion Hutton (the show's other star) as the former were Como-committed.

With Billy Rowland at the piano and Lloyd Sheffer, conductor of radio's Chesterfield supper club orchestra, directing, Como got off to a happy start with "It's Nice to Be Nice to Your Neighbors."

A medley, composed to "Dream, Dream, Dream," "Girl of My Dreams" and "Peg O' My Heart," stopped the show. Como halted the thunderous, chandelier-shaking testimonial with surprising ease. Breaking in gently when the youngsters reluctantly paused for breath, Como requested for quiet during the singing of the next son, "a quiet song you like, and (to the electrician) dim the lights except for a single small spot."

It was the closest thing to hypnotism since ipecac was outlawed as a baby-soother. A famous music critic once described Melchior's voice as "black velvet with cream" . . . a rather messy idea although her intent was to be highly complimentary. She might have used the same combination of words to salute Como's ear-caressing "Chi-Baba Chi-Baba," sung in such quiet you could hear a gumdrop.

"Song of Songs," "Sweet Sixteen" and "Temptation" were other swooningly received numbers in the Como repertoire, which was not nearly extensive enough to include the multitude of request tunes.

Looking as luscious as a fresh raspberry soda, Marion Hutton, in a filmy pink gown and with a pink bow tying her George Washington hairdo of pale-gold, registered solidly with the whistling wolves in the audience. She was a close second to Como, singing an assortment of tunes that was just up the audience's aisle.

The show opened with "a generation of dancing" by the Four Evans, a family ensemble of father, mother, son and daughter. It was a slick exhibition of terping.

Para-Fenway Film Doesn't Get Anywhere

"Repeat Performance," now tenanting the Paramount and Fenway screens, comes up with a "different" idea that disintegrates as completely as its one-play play-right-hero long before the termination of its 93-minute unreeling.

It is New Year's Eve and a glamorous Broadway stage star, looking back on a year of unhappy, tangling incidents that have just culminated in tragedy, wishes she could live the past 12 months over again.

So, the script says, she does, trying desperately to alter its pattern. As she relives that fateful year of her life, 1946, she is constantly on guard against the pitfalls that had plunged her into mortal despair.

It is unfortunate that the scripter or the author (I haven't read William O'Farrell's novel on which the screen story was based) failed to develop a novel idea to a logical conclusion. "Repeat Performance" is an indiscriminate blend of fantasy and reality that gets nowhere.

Joan Leslie is woefully miscast as the heroine who relives a miserable year of her life to no constructive purpose. It is one of those Hollywood mysteries which we will never understand why a fresh and lovely young actress should be assigned to play a disillusioned, unloved, bitter wife. Louis Hayward, as her insensitive husband who believes one hit play makes a career, plays a graceless, unresolved characterization with an understandable lack of comprehension.

Broadway's Richard Basehart, playing a fey sort of character, fares best in these strange cinematic goings-on.

Lilies for Leo: A Boy Grows Up: Blackwell's Row

By AUSTEN LAKE

MADAME ASTRA, the sassy seeress whose commercial cards say she is blessed with "an uncanny, occult and extra-sensitory power to pierce the veil of the future," folded her gravy-stained wrapper about her bulges and wiped off some breakfast egg from her No. 3 chin. For two bits she will sell you a dram of kitchen gin and pick your pocket. For 50 cents she will heat up her mystic crystal and go to bug-eyed gazing, which she calls a "transom."

Just now the Madame complains that she ain't able to drag a herring off the fire on account of suffering the head snuffles. But for a steady customer like me she warms up the magic globe and woos her hobgoblin. So presently she grumbles, "I see where the Brooklyn Dodgers are fixing to give Leo Durocher a permanent pass out powder."

So? That's a presentiment that has been in the wind for some time due to Bert Shotten's success in putting the Bums on top. Remember last October how the baseball writers association voted the Lip the game's most skilled manager? Remember how disaster was predicted when Comr. Happy Chandler put Leo in coventry for this season? Shux, we said, the hard-shell Dodgers needed Lippy's rowdy inspiration. They'd go stale under an old fogy like Shotten! So we said!

Yet here are the Dodgers 10 games out front and playing more animated ball than they did under Durocher. You don't dump a World Series winner, which Shotten looks to be. Who wants to hire Lippy? Maybe his sort of cantankerous, pesky character, would be the tonic needed by Tom Yawkey's Mother Goose boys.

Braves' Old Schoolkid

HANK GREENBERG HAS resigned his first base job for the Pirates in favor of Elburt Preston Fletcher. Elbie alone remains of all that blue chinned horde who played for Judge Fuchs' old Braves. I never peer down from the press box to watch the Pirates but I find myself flipping back memory's book to the training season of 1934 when Elbie came fresh from Milton High School as the prize-man of a Boston American's baseball contest, a block kid with a peach blow complexion and a snub nose perkiness.

He hadn't graduated from Milton High and was on leave from his studies, provided he take along his books to southern training and stay abreast of his lessons. So the Braves entered him in the winter term of junior school where there were kids of all ages scampering among the palm trees.

Elbie did a conscientious job, scribbling his French verbs and solving square roots. And after supper when the rest of the Braves were thinking up their evening's mischief or sitting in the card room trying to decide whether to split two pairs or draw a single card, Elbie pored over his homework in his bedroom. And the following June he earned his diploma from Milton as an honor student and graduated to a leaky roof league to take a course in hitting curve ball pitching. That was thirteen years ago and here he is in his early thirties, a hard-shell veteran. How tempus figits!

Fabulous Babe

TO EUROPEANS THE FAT and fabulous figure of Babe Ruth, under his floppy tam o'shanter and behind his muffin nose, bespeaks the spirit of the United States more nearly than our Senatorial mane shakers, our bartered brides and our Hollywood cuddlies. The London Daily Mail pictures the Babe as a wizened invalid and underneath a caption reads, "Nowhere but America could create a fantastic character like Babe Ruth—the sentimental product of a naive people who lavish riches and adulation on their public pets."

I prefer a naive people who can put a big, good-natured oaf like Babe into the first rank of their hearts. He is a national asset, a public chum whose urchin wistfulness and athletic deeds has made him a Chevalier in the People Brotherhood.

Blackwell Stumbles

NOW THAT THE GIANTS have bumped off Ewell Blackwell's victory row at 16, Rube Marquard's record of 19 straight still stands and probably will survive another score of years. Rube claims stubbornly that his string was really 20 and mentions a game against Brooklyn which should have been marked to his credit.

It happened way back in 1912. It was April 20 at the Polo Grounds and Big Jeff Tesreau was protecting a 2 to 0 lead going into the ninth, when calamity crashed over his ears. There were two Dodgers (or Robins, as they were then called) on base and one run across when John McGraw beckoned Jeff out and Rube in. The first batter drove a ball at Rube and he threw to the plate to head off the tying run. Art Wilson ran the runner back toward third and then, to the dismay of all, heaved the ball into left field. Two runs scored and Brooklyn led, 3 to 2. But the Giants likewise scored two in their half and won, 4 to 3.

In these modern times the scorer would have given Marquard credit with no argument. But the rules were more rubbery in those days and the game was given to Tesreau by some strange mental manipulation. The Rube's string was in its infancy at the time or the scorer, to make the wonder grow, would probably have given him credit—20 straight! Next best was Cliff Curtis' 18 for the 1910 Braves. Blackwell's 16 equals the mark made by Lefty Grove in 1931, Schoolboy Rowe in '34, Carl Hubbell in '36, Joe Wood and Walter Johnson in '12.

Detroit Tigers Here Tonight; Time for Sox to Wake Up

By FRED HOEY

When the Red Sox get on their horse tonight against the Detroit Tigers they had better go places or they'll be shut out of even the first division.

The manner in which the Sox are tossing away games with home run balls is distressing. Joe Dobson is a fine pitcher and deserves a better fate, but big Joe tossed a couple yesterday, one to Lou Boudreau and the other to Joey Gorden that spelled ruin for the Sox. The Sox lost the game, 5-4.

In meeting the Tigers tonight at 8:30 o'clock, the locals probably won't have that home run menace to worry about but there is always the threat of an extra basehit. And these count in the pinches.

The Tigers come in with a flock of good pitchers. Their infield could stand bolstering, but they have a couple of players here and there who can hit. The team as a whole is not robust in the attack for the loss of Hank Greenberg has been noticeably felt.

Losing three straight to Cleveland was a terrible sock to the local cause, but Boudreau's men cleanly outplayed them in all three games.

LUCK WITH INDIANS

Joe Dobson wasn't around at the finish but there was a gleam of hope as Mickey Harris took over in the seventh. The southpaw really looked good. He was bearing down with all that he had and made the Indians look foolish in the three innings he worked.

The Cleveland setup was a bit unusual. Bob Lemon made his first start for Cleveland and did all right until the Sox nailed him in the sixth. He was rescued by Ted Klieman, who has been in 31 games but has yet to start one.

HUTCHINSON FERRISS

Duel Here Tonight Under Lights

Both Cleveland homers which settled the game were only circuit clouts by "Lady Luck." Boudreau's in the first came with Mitchell on base and made the net by inches. Joe Gordon's came with two on in the sixth and it was just inside the foul line.

Dom DiMaggio made a peach of a one-handed catch off Bob Lemon in the fifth when he went back almost to the wall to spear the fly glove-handed. It was grand timing and came with Al Lopez on first . . . Surprising to see a smart player like Lopez holding third while Jake Jones pulled off the double killing on Mitchell and Metkovitch in the fifth. It was a tag play at second at that.

POOR ATTENDANCE

In the fifth, Johnny Pesky received a wicked smash on his leg via his own foul ball. Johnny did plenty of hopping about but finally shook it off. Then he flied out to Gordon, who made a neat catch in short right . . . It certainly is a baseball treat to see both Doerr and Gordon on the same field. A couple of master workmen.

In the sixth, Eddie Pellagrini went to short for Pesky who required immediate treatment by Trainer Win Green . . . Ted Williams' triple off Lemon in the sixth was a tremendous fly which bounded off the center field wall . . . Ted made a beautiful slide into third to beat the throw . . . The attendance was 5879 paid second lowest home attendance of the year . . . Wallie Moses' fly to left brought in Jones with oBston's third run in the sixth.

Once again, that "terrible" man Lou Boudreau came up to thwart a Red Sox rally. In the eighth when it looked as though the locals were on their way, Tebbetts hit a grounder to Lou's right. He grabbed it, tossed it to Gordon to force Jones, and Joe then whipped the ball to first base to double up Birdie . . . Ken Keltner came up with a miraculous play on Culberson in the ninth. He stabbed back-handed over third and pegged out Culberson at first. It was a sweet play.

Subway Series Now Seems Sure

A subway World Series, founded on two dazzling western trips by the Dodgers and Yankees, appears certain as the clubs head into August, normally the head of the stretch in the baseball pennant races, according to the Associated Press.

Thirteen straight victories by the under-rated Brooks have given Mgr. Burt Shotton's men a commanding 10-game lead over the Giants and the defending Cardinals.

Although the Yankees slacked off a trifle from the pace they held during their 19-game win string, they have opened up 12-game margin on the defending Red Sox. Chief interest in the A. L. now centers around the scrap for second place.

SWEEPS SERIES

Brooklyn's feat has been more exceptional than the Yanks' because the Dodgers, despite last year's exciting finish, were not supposed to be in the same class with the Cards. The Yanks had the class but it was questionable if their pre-war stars who faded badly last year, could regain their old form.

In sweeping three straight from St. Louis at Sportsman's Park, the third by a 2-1 margin yesterday, the Dodgers left the champs hanging on the ropes. Had St. Louis been able to win Wednesday's game after overcoming a 10-0 Brooklyn lead, there would have been hope. But, after they blew that game in the tenth and bowed before Vic Lombardi's left-handed slants yesterday, they were just about out of it. Many of the good-sized weekday afternoon crowd of 21,873 fans could read the hand writing on the wall.

St. Louis has 59 games to play as compared to 55 for the Dodgers but their overwhelming advantage in home games now has largely disappeared and they must fight it out on even ground against that staggering 10-game deficit.

Even Howie Pollet, the old Dodger-tamer, failed Mgr. Eddie Dyer although he pitched a smart game, normally good enough to win. They were tied at 1-1 going to the ninth when Pee Wee Reese tripled down the right field foul line to score Bruce Edwards with the winning run.

12TH FOR LEONARD

The Giants also helped the Dodgers build up their lead by bowing to Cincinnati, 8-7. The defeat left the Giants 10 full games back of the Brooks. Grady Hatton's three-run homer in the eighth turned the tide after earlier clouts by Johnny Mize and Walker Cooper, each with two on, had given the Giants the edge. It was No. 31 for Mize, the leader and No. 24 for Cooper.

Dutch Leonard, whose A. L. release appears to have been an embarrassing mistake, posted his 12th victory for Ben Chapman's Phillies, a 3-0 five-hit shutout over the Cubs. It was the third time the Phils had beaten the Bruins in 16 games this season.

Bob Savage stifled a last-inning spurt by Chicago to save Philadelphia's Bill Dietrich his fourth victory over Ed Lopat, 3-2. Savage finally retired Cass Michaels after Rudy York's double and Luke Appling's single helped pull the Sox within one run of a tie.

Brookline Golfer Under Par in Met

WESTBURY, N. Y., Aug. 1 (AP)

Medalist Ray Torgerson of Cherry Valley and 31 others started match play today at the Meadow Brook Club for the Metropolitan amateur golf championship.

Torgerson, despite a capricious wind that did strange things to the scorecards yesterday, managed to add a 72 to his 67 of the previous day to take medalist honors with a 139.

Jack Lyons, Garden City, and Charles Mulcahy, Brookline, Mass., who also plays out of Westchester's Winged Foot Club, carded one-under-par 69 yesterday, giving 142 and Mulcahy 144.

WONDERLAND REVERE

Sports Editorial

It was a bad move for Joe Louis and also for the boxing game when the Brown Bomber signed to meet Jersey Joe Walcott in a non-title bout in the New York Garden Nov. 14. Louis has established himself as one of the greatest champions of all time by meeting every challenger. He has never before tried to keep his title in a glass case while he has entered the ring to meet his opponents.

JOE LOUIS

In the event Joe Walcott should knock out or win the decision over Louis he will be the world champion in the eyes of the public regardless of the trick conditions under which the title match has been signed. There is no precedent under which a heavyweight champion can box other than in an exhibition without risking his position at the head of his boxing class.

The New York Athletic Commission, the 20th Century Club and the Louis management cannot change this condition. The same N. Y. Athletic Commission, which has approved the Louis-Walcott non-title bout, suspended "Rocky" Graziano after he had refused to listen to offers from "sure thing" gamblers. "Rocky's" unpardonable sin was that he did not divulge the offers when they were made to the boxing solons. Graziano then went to Chicago and won the middleweight title by knocking out Tony Zale. He proved himself every inch a champion.

The N. Y. Athletic Commission, by sanctioning a non-title bout for Louis, has put itself in a ridiculous position and certainly has done much more harm to boxing than Graziano did.

This writer does not believe that Louis himself sought a non-title bout. It has not been his way of doing things. The Brown Bomber's management, however, probably does not care to have him risk his championship in an indoor match when he is now 33 years of age and has been inactive since he knocked out Tami Mauriello last September. It is regretted Louis has been put in such a poor position by the non-title bout agreement.

—JACK CONWAY

Louis' Non-Title Bout Serves Only to Stir Up Controversy

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP)—From now until Nov. 14 at least, the big question in Madison Square Garden's cauliflower patch will be: "When is a contender not a contender?"

Jersey Joe Walcott of Camden, N. J., is the gentleman of the uncertain ring status, who, some insist, can't win for losing.

Yesterday he agreed to meet heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis in a 10-round non-title fracas at the Garden Nov. 14.

Sol Strauss, acting director of the 20th Century Sporting Club, emphasized the "non-title" aspect of the contest. But this emphasis only served to stir up controversy.

Here are some of the various wrinkles served up, all presupposing Walcott should become suddenly imbued instead of embalmed, and either knocks out or wins a clear-cut decision over the Brown Bomber:

Eddie Eagan, chairman of the New York Athletic Commision, said he believed the "ancient law of custom" would prevail and that Walcott would be regarded as champion if he should hang a kayo on Joe.

Abe Greene, president of the National Boxing Ass'n, said that if Walcott won by a knockout "no commission could deny his title claim."

It was pointed out that under New York rules, a title match must be ticketed for 15 rounds, thus the non-title phase in this scheduled 10-rounder, which was put on the books to enable Louis to pick up a little change and to keep his hand in.

ARREST GOLFER

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 1 (AP)—A Scranton golfer has been held on an assault and battery charge after his golf ball struck a 11-year-old caddy, causing the loss of the boy's right eye.

Detective Thomas McDonald said John Fansing, the caddy, was retrieving some golf balls when struck by a ball driven by B. J. Lestrange.

Cooperstown Tablet For Late President Of Minor Leagues

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 1 (AP)—Minor league President George M. Trautman said today that a bronze tablet in memory of his predecessor, the late Judge William G. Bramham of Durham, N. C., would be unveiled Aug. 8 at Cooperstown, N. Y.

Bramham, who died July 8 at Durham, will be the first minor league executive to be honored at the Cooperstown baseball Hall of Fame.

Trautman said the tablet, 18 by 24 inches, would be inscribed:

"This tablet has been placed here by the membership of the National Ass'n of Professional Baseball Leagues as a symbol of their appreciation for William G. Bramham, who served as its president from 1932 to 1946."

A method of honoring other outstanding minor league figures from time to time is to be determined during the annual winter meeting at Miami, Fla., in December, Trautman said.

KLEM'S READY TO ANSWER LEGITIMATE BASEBALL QUESTIONS

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP)—Bill Klem, the old arbitrator, scowled one of his fiercest "bawlllll tee-yew" scowls and attacked a foot-high pile of letters.

His cozy office, high in the 19th floor of a Radio City skyscraper, is the clearing office for umpires with a problem.

If one or two of his own National League umps aren't cluttering up the furniture, it's a phone call or mail query from a distant point. As chief of staff of the National umpires, Bill is expected to know all the answers.

Bill will answer any legitimate query but he draws the line at screwball questions which never happened except in the fertile imagination of the writer.

"Got one the other day," he growled. "Some fellow wanted to know if the side could be retired with two pitched balls. Do you know what I told him? When that happens have the umpire send me a report.

"One umpire wrote me about a play that happened in his league. A player hit a home run over the fence and didn't touch second base. They called his attention to it and he called the man out. I told him he was right technically but, as one umpire to another, I advised him always to keep in mind the basic rule of common sense. Hell, that'd probably happened to me 20 times. I'd rule they touched the bag for me.

Cape Ann Bass Derby Popular

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Largest fish registered to date in the Cape Ann Sportsman's Club's striped bass derby, now being run by the Gloucester club, is the 28-pound, 13-ounce catch made by William S. Burke of Gloucester recently. Leader in the women's division is Mrs. A. Laurilla Hardy, from the same city, who hooked a bass weighing 13 pounds, 10 ounces.

Harry J. Reardon, Jr., president of the outfit, tells us that interest is high in the contest, which has attracted hundreds of entrants. He adds that Charles Standly, Beverly, heads the field competing for the Hawthorne Inn prize, with a 15-pound, 12-ounce bass. This class is limited to out-of-town anglers.

The Cape Ann Derby serves as a pre-view of the bigger ones in the offing, notably, the Canal Sportsman's affair starting Aug. 15, and the Martha's Vineyard contest, beginning Sept. 15 . . . There are about 36 striper derbies scheduled along the Atlantic coast this summer. At least ten of these will take place in New England waters.

ANGLING ANGLES: Fishermen seem to have more alibis than skiers! Early in the season, the fish weren't hitting because of the cold waters. Now the boys claim there's a "warm weather slump." In the fall, those not connecting will blame the winds, surf, or something—but it's fun, anyway.

Good-sized mackerel are striking in Quincy Bay, plus plenty of large flounders and haddock . . . Scattered stripers have been boated in Hingham Harbor during the past two weeks and a few of this species are being taken from the South river . . . Rod and reel sportsmen are "hot" after giant tuna in Ipswich Bay, back after a wartime absence.

CLUB CHATTER: Sponsored by the Woburn Sportsman's Ass'n and the New England Setter Club, a Field Day will be staged at the Russell st. grounds, Woburn, Sunday, Aug. 17, commencing at 10 a. m. Highlights of the program will be skeet shooting, followed by a dog show and a bird dog trial. For anglers, there will be plug casting on grass, with prizes offered in every event. Sec. Harry Hayes expects a record turnout, stating that ladies, children and friends are welcome. In case of rain, the field day will be held Aug. 24.

Maine Head Names Stobie for Game Post

AUGUSTA, Me., Aug. 1 (AP)—Gov. Horace A. Hildreth today nominated George J. Stobie of Augusta for his seventh three-year term as state fish and game commissioner.

Three other candidates had sought the post.

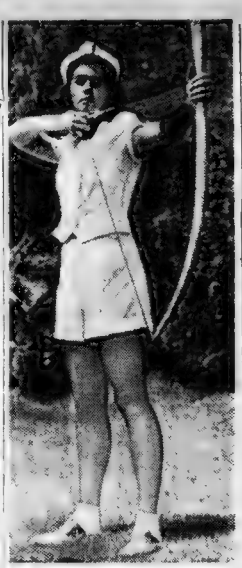
The nomination requires executive council confirmation.

N. E. TAKES BOW

In the midst of a heat wave, it may be possible to cool off with thoughts of skiing.

At a recent meeting of the Olympic Games Committees, held in New York, it was announced that 22 male skiers and eight feminine schussers will represent the U. S. in the Winter Olympics, which will take place at St. Moritz, Switzerland, during the first week of February, 1948.

New Englanders can point with pride to the fact that 10 members of the squad hail from this region—a record never equalled before in any other field of sports. "TAP"



TITLIST—Pretty Ann Weber of Bloomfield, N. J., U. S. women's archer champ, will open her title defense Monday at Mass. State College, Amherst.

Dodgers-Cards Replay at Night To Aid Memorial

NEW YORK, Aug. 1, (INS)—The Dodgers and the St. Louis Cardinals will replay their protested July 20 baseball game on the night of Aug. 18, at Ebbets field, Brooklyn, with the proceeds to go to the Brooklyn War Memorial Fund.

Sam Breadon, head of the Cardinals, and National league president Ford Frick have approved the decision to make the game a separate contest, instead of having it played as part of a double-header as originally planned.

The Cardinals and the National League also have agreed to waive their share of the receipts of the game, which is expected to provide proceeds of at least 50 thousand dollars for the memorial fund.

Brooklyn borough president John Cashmore chose the war memorial fund as the beneficiary of the game.

The fund is seeking to raise one million dollars to erect a monumental auditorium and headquarters for all Brooklyn war veterans.

Three Countries Seek Flyweight Title Go

GLASGOW, Scotland, Aug. 1 (AP)—In an effort to iron out the angled flyweight situation, four boxing promoters from three countries today were trying to line up a Honolulu-vs.-Ireland match for the currently vacated title.

Jack Solomons of London, Charles Black of Glasgow, and Bob Gardiner and Joe Connell of Belfast, Ireland, were seeking a title shot between Dado Marino of Honolulu and Rinty Monaghan of Ireland.

Marino, through his manager, Sad Sam Ichinose, has put in a claim for the title, on the ground Marino's oft-postponed championship go with Jackie Paterson, the scottish bandleader, was finally cancelled because Paterson could not make the weight.

GRID GIANTS OFF TO CAMP

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP)—A burly batch of New York Giants departed for Chicago today en route to the National League football's training camp in Superior, Wis., where 49 candidates take their first workout Sunday.

Duck Hunt Season Cut For 1947

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—Cutting the nation's duck-hunting season to a 10-year low, the fish and wildlife service predicted today a "very substantial reduction" in the kill of waterfowl this year.

The agency reduced the shooting of ducks and geese to 30 days in the East and 35 days in Central and Western States.

The new regulations also shorten each hunting day by an hour, and clamp new limitations on the number of waterfowl a hunter may kill in one day or accumulate in more than a day. Furthermore no hunter may keep his catch in storage for more than 90 days after the season's ending.

The earliest seasons begin Sept. 1, in Alaska and some northern states. They extend to January 31 in Georgia and Mississippi and Feb. 12 in Peurto Rico.

Acting Secretary of the Interior Oscar L. Chapman said "reductions in the hunting season and bag limits are necessary this year to stem the noticeable decrease in waterfowl over the past three years."

The new regulations offer states east of a line extending north and south from the western boundary of Minnesota, to and including Louisiana, the choice of 30 consecutive days of shooting or a split season of 24 days two periods of 12 days each.

The 1947 rules limit daily shooting hours from sunrise to an hour before sunset.

For scoters (sea coots), chiefly hunted in waters off New England and New York, a daily bag limit of seven and a possession limit of 14 was set.

Razzle-Dazzle Planned by Colts

HERSHEY, Pa., Aug. 1 (AP)—Coach Cecil Isbell is planning to employ razzle-dazzle football with the emphasis on speed in aiming his Baltimore Colts toward a possible All - America Conference championship.

One of the most promising backs in training with the Colts here is Ernie Case, 170-pound speed merchant and captain of last year's U. C. L. A. eleven. Billy Hillenbrand, U. of Indiana star, is another likely starter in the Baltimore backfield.

The Colt wingmen—another essential in Isbell's plans—include Hub Bechtol, Texas U., and Lamar "Racehorse" Davis, Georgia.

Baltimore will get its first test Aug. 22 in an exhibition game against the Buffalo Bills at Hershey.

SMITH DOMINATES IN POLO FIELD

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Smith, a mighty man was he back in the horse and buggy days, and it appears the Smiths are just as mighty in polo circles, where they still don't think the automobile will replace the horse.

The United States Polo Ass'n for the more than 400 mallet-swingers in the country, and prominent in the listings were three Smiths:

1—Cecil Smith of Austin, Tex., who with Stewart Iglehart and Michael Phipps of Meadowbrook, N. Y., continue to be the only three 10-goalers in the country.

2—Lewis Smith, East Aurora, N. Y., who was raised from five to seven, the only participant to make the rating jump.

3—Robert Smith of San Mateo, Cal., who with Bobby Nicholds, San Antonio, Tex., was raised from fivers to sixers.

Doherty Beats Koslowski To Enter NE Golf Semifinals

NAYATT, R. I., Aug. 1 (AP)—Felice Torza of Wethersfield, Ct., and Julius Boros of Bridgeport, medalist and runner-up in Wednesday's qualifying round in the New England amateur golf championship, moved into opposite halves of the semifinals today at the Rhode Island Country Club.

They were joined by Johnny Levinson of Kennebunkport, Me., a former title holder, and Ernie Doherty, 25-year-old Woburn, Mass., player who eliminated Bill Blaney of Boston, 4 and 3, and Stan Koslowski of Pawtucket, R. I., 3 and 2, respectively.

Torza had his troubles disposing of the stubborn challenge of Charley Clare of New Haven, another of the former titlists in the field, staggering through to a 2-up victory after losing the 15th and 16th holes.

Boros, however, was consistency itself once more, but this time picked up the birdies that had been eluding him. In his match with Robert W. Knowles of Brookline, he breezed through the front nine in 35, one under par, and was two under for the six inward holes required, winning 4 and 3.

Doherty lost the first two holes to Koslowski, but sank a 12-footer for a birdie at the sixth, which he won, and squared the match at the seventh when Koslowski whacked his tee shot into the woods. Koslowski 3-putted the ninth and Doherty went one up.

Doherty chipped precisely for his par at the 10th while Koslowski was slicing his tee shot and chipping poorly. Doherty bogeyed the 13th but got that one back, and ran out the match by firing a magnificent shot from the rough to the 16th green and then dropping a good putt for a winning birdie.

Czech Davis Team In Montreal Soon

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP)—Czechoslovakia's Davis Cup tennis team, winner of the European zone competition, is scheduled to arrive in Montreal Aug. 7 for its interzone final match there Aug. 14-16 against the winner of next week's Australian-Canada tie.

The Czech team consists of three players, Jaroslav Droyny, who beat jack Kramer at Wimbledon last year; Bohous Cernik, who helped him win the European zone title, and Ladislav Hecht, a top-ranking Czech player of prewar years.

Hecht has been livinig in New York for several years and earlier this season won the eastern clay court championship. It is not known whether the Czechs mean to use his talents at Montreal, or merely to have him on hand as a spare.

BRAVES THROW SAIN AT CINCI

CROSLEY FIELD, Cincinnati, O., Aug. 1—The Braves and the Reds engaged in a double-header this afternoon. The opening game found Johnny Vander Meer, southpaw for Cincinnati opposing Johnny Sain of the Braves.

Vander Meer's last appearance was marked by a whitewash of the New York Giants, 5 to 0. He allowed six hits in that game.

In the second game today the rival moundsmen will be Bud Lively for Cincinnati and Warren Spahn who has shut out the Reds three times this season.

Today was the second Knothole Day in succession and the youngsters were in noisy force. The series of five games will wind up Sunday with a double-bill. In the first game today Southworth presented his right handed batting order.

FIRST GAME

FIRST INNING

BRAVES—Holmes grounded to Miller. M. McCormick singled. Litwhiler flied to Haas. M. McCormick advanced on a wild pitch. Elliott hit a home run scoring behind M. McCormick. Frank McCormick grounded to Zientara. TWO RUNS.

REDS—Baumholtz beat out a hit, and when Ryan threw wild, Baumholtz took second. Zientara lined to Elliott. Hatton was out. F. McCormick to Sain. Young flied to Litwhiler. NO RUNS.

SECOND INNING

Speedy Tweedy Gets Stop Sign

Charles Tweedy, 30, of Appomattox, Va., former bus driver and a very fast man with a piece of luggage, was slowed down today by Judge Joseph T. Zottoli in municipal court, with a 14 months sentence and a $20 fine.

Tweedy's racket was to prey on travelers at South Station. Police said he would stalk citizens carrying likely looking luggage. The minute they put down their bags Tweedy would snatch the leather and walk away, looking very official in his bus driver's cap.

One of his victims was Rev. Malachy Lyons, a missionary who spent four years in a Jap prison camp and was on his way to Bermuda after visiting here.

Another was a former Milton selectman, Francis E. Cole, whose bag contained an expensive movie camera.

Tweedy took his loot to Boston hotels where he skipped without paying.

He pleaded guilty to four counts of luggage larceny, two of defrauding hotels and one of false registration.

E. CAMBRIDGE BOY HURT

Stephen Gifford, 7, son of Mrs. Evelyn Carland, Sixth st., East Cambridge, fell to the ground today while playing atop parked fieght cars near Binney st. and was taken to Cambridge City Hospital with a possible skull fracture.

Many Top Baseball Figures Solid Citizens on Coast Now

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1 (AP)—What they're doing now:

Fred Clarke, one of baseball's great oldtimers, St. Louis and Pittsburgh, is living in retirement at Long Beach, Cal. He managed the Pirates from 1901-03 and, in 21 years as an outfielder in the National League had a lifetime batting average of .315.

And Gavvy (Wooden Shoes) Cravath, the Phillies' outfielder of yesterday, is a leading resident of Laguna Beach in Southern California. Cravath, incidentally, led the national circuit six times in home runs when the ball was deader than dead.

In 1913 and '14 he clouted 19 four-baggers; in 1915 he boosted the total to 24 and two seasons later he tied for tops with an even dozen. The abbreviated 1918 season saw him bang out eight homers and in '19 he was back to 12.

Farmer Snodgrass tills the soil in Ventura, another Southern California community. He's the same Fred Snodgrass who made the famous muff that cost the Giants a chance to get into a World Series. This defection cannot detract from the fact that he was one of the game's great outfielders, and the Giants would pay double the salary today they paid him then.

In Los Angeles, Art (Germany) Shafer, a former Giants third-sacker, is in the bonding and real estate business, while in northern California, ex-Cardinal-Cincinnati Chick Hafey operates a farm. The mild-mannered, bespectacled Chick was the National League batting king in 1931 with .349. Two of his nephews, Tom and Will, play for Oakland in the Coast League.

Ping Bodie, Yankees-Athletics-White Sox, is a Hollywood movie electrician. Probably only Ping himself remembers he was home run runner-up in the American League in 1913. The leader was the renowned powerhouse of Connie Mack's noted A's, Home Run Frank Baker. He hit for the circuit 12 times, Bodie 8.

Cincinnati-Brooklyn infielder Sammy Bohne is in the clothing business around here and Oscar Vitt, who managed the widely publicized Cleveland "crybabies," may be found puttering in the garden of his Oakland home. Vitt has developed into a sparkling after-dinner speaker and keeps his hand in in baseball by helping out amateur baseball schools.

Cleveland oldsters will remember Cy Falkenburg as an outstanding pitcher, as will those of a later date recall Walter (The Duster) Mails, eccentric and dazzling southpaw of the 1920-21 Indians. Falkenburg and Mails both work in San Francisco, the former virtually forgotten to local baseball people and Mails in the limelight as publicity man for a big amusement corporation.

Fitzgerald Heads Scott Mile Entries

Bill Fitzgerald of Somerville will head a list of entries in the Walter Scott Mile, feature of the 94th annual Scottish games of the Caledonian Club of Boston, tomorrow afternoon at Russell Field, Cambridge.

Fitzgerald's top competition will come from teammates in the Amscan Club, Tony Sapienza and Allen Carlson.
